Scientifically proven Isometric principles

What's the secret? A radically new invention—the amazing TELEPANDER—developed in muscle-conscious Europe. Now available in U.S. for first time. Totally unlike any exercise device you've ever seen. Combines and duplicates both ISOMETRIC and ISOTONIC principles of muscle-building in one lightweight, portable, inexpensive machine. Follow the step-by-step method and it gives you a gym-equivalent workout—forces flabby muscles to their power-packed peak—in less time than it takes to shave! No sweat. No long tortuous exercises. No need to disrobe. Yet your arms, legs, chest and back GAIN DYNAMIC NEW POWER...GROW HARDER, FIRMER, STRONGER!

Spectacular results acclaimed by users

Developed in Europe and now available in the United States for the first time, here are some of the exciting results TELEPANDER users have experienced:

- "My chest started to deepen, my biceps thickened, and my stomach flattened out." E. F., Paris
- "Now, with Telepander, I've gotten back the muscles and fitness I had when I first got married." K.O., Copenhagen

WORLD-WIDE PRAISE

Revolutionary isometric concept behind TELEPANDER endorsed by professional coaches, athletes, Olympic teams. U.S. Navy. President's Council on Physical Fitness. Reported in leading scientific journals throughout the world. And you can be sure that in designing our home method of physical fitness we kept these scientific principles well in mind.

- "My pot belly has turned into a flat sheath of muscle...my strength has increased enormously." M. Z., Frankfurt

And others write: "Your trial of the Telepander convinced me...it really works! ...Is everything you say it is and more..." Yes, this is the NEW EASY WAY that makes sense for weightlifters, sportsmen, boxers, judo and karate experts who want to CHARGE THEIR MUSCLES WITH FIERCE NEW POWER...in just minutes a day!

Free booklet shows how—no obligation

Do you want to replace weak flabby muscles with STEEL-LIKE RIPPLING "DYNAMOS" you can be proud of? Would You Like to Take in $140 after Supper?

This is exactly what L. Burnett did while still employed. Here are his own words:

"I worked at my Duraclean business part time until I saw that I could make as much in a week as my job paid for a whole month. One night, after supper, I took in $140. Since going full time, I've had single jobs running $300 and more."

Mr. Burnett and one helper serviced this $140 "after-supper" job. The national price guide provides a Duraclean dealer a gross profit of $6 per hour on EACH serviceman plus $9 per hour on any service he himself renders. Your income is limited only by the number of servicemen you employ.

To own a business is much easier than you think. We show you how . . . step by step. The 24 page fully illustrated booklet we'll mail you (with no obligation) explains how most of your gross profit becomes a clear net profit to you.

Start while Continuing Present Job We furnish all the equipment...and help finance you

If you've wanted to BE YOUR OWN BOSS . . . to become financially independent . . . have a fast growing income . . . and own a Nationally Advertised business, now YOU CAN.

You can stay at your present job while your customer list grows . . . then switch to full time, lining up jobs for your servicemen to do.

One small job a day brings a good starting income. As you add full or part-time servicemen, your income is limited only by your own effort.

Dealers operate from a shop, office, or their home. Equipment is portable...the electric Foam-ovator converts to a convenient carrying case.

At the start, you may want to render service yourself . . . or you can start out with servicemen. This business is easy to learn . . . easy to start . . . so easy to service that women dealers often do it. We prefer you have no experience . . . not have to "unlearn" old methods.

We are NOW enlarging this worldwide system of individually-owned service businesses. If you are reliable, honest and willing to work to become financially independent, we invite you to mail the coupon.

Your Services Are Commended by

McCall's Magazine, Parents; American Research & Testing Laboratories...and by leading Carpet Mills & Furniture Makers

What Dealers Say:

Gerald Weihrauch: "Insurance job brought me $205.70 in single day. Another, $300".

Leo Barnett: "I started spare time and took in $140 in one night after supper. Now, full time, I can make as much in a week as I used to make in a month working for others".

Willis Tatro: "After two years of good profits we sold our business for five times the cost".

Arlin Rae: "I have work scheduled for three weeks in advance. I averaged $122 a day for the last ten days".

Blanche Blood: "Duraclean brought me security and an education for my daughters. We've done as much as $3,000 on a single job".

Loren Farris: "Did the carpeting in a furniture store in less than 3 days for $400. Now get all their customer business".

Robert Wheeler: "The professional quality of Duraclean Service has earned the respect of carpet dealers and wholesalers. I've earned $117.50 in an eight hour day".

Willmer Suders, Jr.: "Building steadily. Last month grossed $2,012. One job came to $752".

John Szymanski: "Making 50% more than on any job I ever had. I've earned as high as $1,300 in a single week, as much as $2,700 on one job".

Ernest Shulda: "I never knew a company as eager as Duraclean to help their franchisees succeed".

R. Geisman: "Using the direct mail program we sold 10% on actual jobs. We also get a lot of referrals from happy customers".

Jerry Baker: "I don't know of any other business in which a man can make as much per hour".

Walter Parsons: "It would take a man years to build up the fame he gets automatically with the Duraclean name. It's a household word".

It's Easier than You Think to Start Your Own Business

When you receive our illustrated booklet, you will see the way we show you step by step how to quickly get customers . . . how to steadily build more customers from their recommendations.

All six services are rendered "on location" in homes, offices, hotels, theaters, churches, clubs, motels and institutions.

These superior, safer and convenient methods spread Duraclean dealerships throughout North and South America, Africa, Portugal, England, Israel, Norway and many other countries.

National Magazine advertising explains the superior merits of your services, builds your customer confidence and brings job leads to you.

We and a Duraclean dealer will train you and assist you. He'll reveal his successful, proven methods. We show you all you need to know.

You have pre-tested newspaper and yellow-page ads, commercials, and a full mailing program.

Furnishings stores, insurance adjustors, and decorators refer jobs to our dealers. These year 'round services are in constant demand.

TODAY is the time to reserve a Duraclean dealership . . . before someone takes your location.

Start Small, Grow Big...in this Booming Business

Many men have said to us, "I can't afford to give up my job till I know I have a sure thing . . . a sound business that will provide both security and a better living for my family."

That made sense to us so we worked out such a plan . . . and those same men are now enjoying Duraclean dealerships in many communities. You don't experiment. You use tested, proven methods. You have our backing and "know how."

Does this appeal to you? Don't decide now. Mail the coupon so you'll have the facts to decide wisely. There is no obligation whatsoever. You will then know whether this is what you want.

You can start small and grow big just as we did. A third of a century ago Duraclean was an idea . . . but it caught fire and spread rapidly to a worldwide service. It spread because it was based upon (1) superior processes and (2) proven customer-getting methods.

Our first service, the care of carpets and upholstery, exemplifies these superiorities. It not only cleans; it enlivens the fibers . . . revives dull colors. Pile rises with new life. Furnishings are used again in a few hours.

There's no machine scrubbing. No soaking. Duraclean cleans by absorption. Mild aerated foam lightly applied, lifts out dirt, grease and many unsightly spots like magic.

Government figures show service businesses growing faster than industries and stores . . . $750 million yearly potential just in rug and furniture cleaning. You have 5 other services.

Space here will not permit describing your other services but they are fully explained in the free booklet we'll mail you. You have six opportunities for profit on every job.

A few hundred dollars establishes YOUR OWN business. A day's profit more than takes care of the monthly payments we finance for you.

Men frequently take in partners.

We furnish electric equipment and enough materials to return your TOTAL investment. If you have good habits and know the importance of customer satisfaction, you can likely qualify for a Duraclean dealership.

It's been said, "Opportunity knocks but once at every man's door." This could be that one rare opportunity in your life.

It is surprisingly easy to learn this business. You can decide from the information we will send you whether to apply for a dealership. So, with no obligation whatever, mail the coupon TODAY.

Resale Service

If, because of illness, moving or for any reason a dealer wants to sell, we maintain a service to locate buyers and to help him sell.

Dealerships resell at up to 10 times the dealer's cost. R.D.K., after 5 months, sold for $2,000 above his cost. L.L., after 30 months, got $7,116 more than he had paid. The value of your dealership and franchise grows monthly.

FREE BOOKLET tells how to start Your Own Business

With no obligation, we'll mail you a letter and 24 page booklet explaining this business . . . how and why your income grows . . . how we help finance you.

Then decide if this opportunity fulfills your dream of independence and a much bigger income.

Your location could be taken tomorrow . . . so mail coupon today.

WHISPERS and TITTERS

BARBRA STREISAND: "We people of the theater don't think of ourselves by race or creed. We have our own little world, our own standards of judging each other—and that's by talent!"

WALLY COX: "I don't want to define humor. I don't think it can be defined. The idea of defining humor is itself comical and self-defeating. It can only be a non-humorous definition. All definitions of humor have holes in them. Humor, if you want my definition, is that which is funny."

THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR: "How can any woman ever make up to a man for what he gave up for me?"

GUNTHER SACHS: "It's hell being married to the world's sexiest woman!"

SANDY DENNIS: "I don't like anything about being an actress."

DR. BENJAMIN SPOCK: "I think open resistance to the draft is the best way to end the war."

MELINA MECOURI: "All any woman wants is to sleep with a man. It is simple. Life is simple."

FRED ASTAIRE: "I'm a lazy man. I hate physical conditioning. I never start getting in condition until about a week before I start a picture."

POLLY BERGEN: "I was never happy with myself as a singer, though I never really accepted the fact I was not a singer. I was an actress with a fair voice, nothing more. I think that honestly sums up Polly Bergen."

DANNY KAYE: "Nothing is more important than the care of children of war."

MAURICE CHEVALIER: "Well, you know, at my age a beauteeful woman ees always beauteeful een shorts, een a skirt, een a meeneeskirt. No matter what she wears. You cannot damage the original beauty een a woman."

CLAUDIA CARDINALE: "I love to change myself. I find that very fascinating—to live many lives. It can be boring always to be the same girl."

How to Speak and Write Like a College Graduate

"It's easy," says Don Bolander...

"and you don't have to go back to school!"

"Do you avoid the use of certain words even though you know perfectly well what they mean? Have you ever been embarrassed in front of friends or the people you work with, because you pronounced a word incorrectly? Are you sometimes unsure of yourself in a conversation with new acquaintances? Do you have difficulty writing a good letter or putting your true thoughts down on paper?"

"If so, then you're a victim of crippled English," says Don Bolander, Director of Career Institute. "Crippled English is a handicap suffered by countless numbers of intelligent, adult men and women. Quite often they are held back in their jobs and their social lives because of their English. And yet, for one reason or another, it is impossible for these people to go back to school."

Is there any way, without going back to school, to overcome this handicap? Don Bolander says, "Yes!" With degrees from the University of Chicago and Northwestern University, Bolander is an authority on adult education. For almost twenty years he has helped thousands of men and women stop making mistakes in English, increase their vocabularies, improve their writing, and become interesting conversationalists right in their own homes.

BOLANDER TELLS HOW IT CAN BE DONE

During a recent interview, Bolander said, "You don't have to go back to school in order to speak and write like a college graduate. You can gain the ability quickly and easily in the privacy of your own home through the Career Institute Method." In his answers to the following questions, Bolander tells how it can be done.

Question What is so important about my ability to speak and write?

Answer People judge you by the way you speak and write. Poor English weakens your self-confidence — handicaps you in your dealings with other people. Good English is absolutely necessary for getting ahead in business and social life.

You can't express your ideas fully or reveal your true personality without a sure command of good English.

Question What does a "command of good English" mean?

Answer A command of good English means you can express yourself clearly and easily without fear of embarrassment or making mistakes. It means you can write well, carry on a good conversation—also read rapidly and remember what you read. Good English can help you throw off self-doubts that may be holding you back.

Question But wouldn't I have to go back to school to gain a command of good English?

Answer No, not any more. You can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate right in your own home — in only a few minutes each day.

Question Is this something new?

Answer Career Institute of Chicago has been helping people for many years. The Career Institute Method quickly shows you how to stop making embarrassing mistakes, enlarge your vocabulary, develop your writing ability, discover the "secrets" of interesting conversation.

Question Does it really work?

Answer Yes, beyond question. In my files there are thousands of letters, case histories and testimonials from people who have used the Career Institute Method to achieve amazing success in their business and personal lives.

Question Who are some of these people?

Answer Almost anyone you can think of. The Career Institute Method is used by men and women of all ages. Some have attended college, others high school, and others only grade school. The method is used by business men and women, typists and secretaries, teachers, industrial workers, clerks, ministers and public speakers, housewives, sales people, accountants, foremen, writers, foreign-born citizens, government and military personnel, retired people, and many others.

Question How long will it take me to gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate, using the Career Institute Method?

Answer In some cases people take only a few weeks to gain a command of good English. Others take longer. It is up to you to set your own pace. In as little time as 15 minutes a day, you will see quick results.

Question How can I find out more about the Career Institute Method?

Answer I will gladly mail you a free 32-page booklet.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

ONE PICTURE

Dear Editor:

How about some pictures of Miss Philadelphia and Miss Manhattan so that we poor benighted readers can judge for ourselves the quality of the selection of the Drag Queen Contest judges? Your tongue-in-cheek reporting of this event whetted our interest, but you left us high and dry with merely words. As Confucius say, one picture worth a thousand words.

Sincerely,
B. T.
Rochester, N.Y.

Dear B. T.:

Editor say: two pictures worth $50, but no takers.

The Editor

KINGS AND QUEENS

Dear Editor:

I was very interested in your article (July, Whisper) on the fabulous drag queen contest at Town Hall in New York, where I had the pleasure of competing for the Miss All-American Camp title. I was particularly pleased at your accurate reporting that thoroughly exposed the vindictiveness and viciousness of Miss Manhattan.

I was not a finalist, and must admit that I was disappointed to a state of tears over not being chosen. Yet, I would be the first to admit that Miss Philadelphia deserved to win the title, and did so fairly. It was just so terribly unjust that Miss Manhattan, as is typical of "her," completely ruined Miss Philadelphia's moments of glory by publicly deriding "her" and threatening "her" with physical harm in such an undignified manner. Your reporter did not note that Miss Philadelphia was so upset by the whole experience that "she" went hysterically to the dressing room after the contest had ended.

I know this was not a lone incident of Miss Manhattan's spitefulness. Last year at a Catskill resort I was competing against "her" in another beauty contest. Fearful of my ability to beat "her" in the competition, "she" maliciously goaded me into a fight. "She" completely ruined a $60 evening gown I was wearing, stripping me down to my bra and panties in the process. I was so badly scratched and mauled from the beating "she" gave me (among other things I received a black eye), that I had to withdraw from the contest and "she" won it. I protested to the contest committee over the beating that caused me to withdraw and asked that "she" be banned from competing. They upheld "her" claim, however, that I had slapped "her" first thus starting the fight, completely discounting the fact that "her" vulgar insinuations had forced me to strike "her," and that in the fight that followed "she" beat me into a state of whimpering helplessness.

Miss Manhattan is not a queen. "She" is just a horrid, venomous witch.

SADISM

Dear Editor:

You seemed surprised to find out that there is a side of all of us that enjoys pain, looks for pain, likes to give pain. We all have a sadistic streak. It may not be as well developed as it is in those boys who burned the Bowery bums or the London torturers who specialized in yanking teeth with pliers.

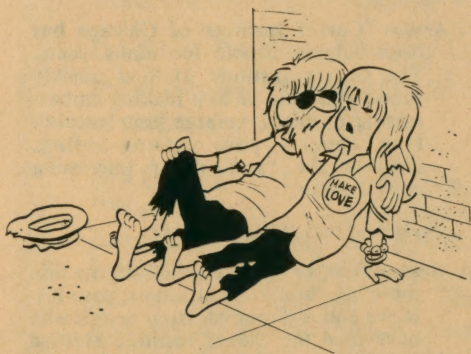

Sadism and other so-called perversions may actually be more normal than what is considered "normal" sex. So don't condemn it without knowing all the facts.

Dr. T. E.
Austin, Tex.

Dear Dr. T. E.:

You are a pain.

The Editor

AGE OF HIPPIES

Dear Editor:

Has the hierarchy of hippy society ever set an age limit on potential hippies? How old is too old? After reading all your great stories, especially the one about the Yorkville, Toronto teens in the September issue of WHISPER, I'm convinced that that is the way to live. I mean, it's right out of Henry David Thoreau. Living and loving and maybe panhandling a little but most of all the love. For centuries there have always been people who try to get away from it all—and maybe all these kids in Toronto and San Francisco have finally succeeded and have really found the good life. But most of us are too far gone to see it.

P. R.

Bad Axe, Mich.

Dear P. R.:

You're hip.

STYLISH FLESH

Dear Editor:

I was really, really happy to see that Twiggy is out and the Fat Mamas are in! I mean, you just can't possibly imagine how happy I was. No more diets, no more pills. I've stopped my exercises and all that delicious flab is starting to come back and smoothe over my bony ribs.

If Liz Taylor can be a heavyweight and still be the most beautiful woman in the world, then I'll settle for being slightly plump and a little less than beautiful! Thanks for freeing me.

Mrs. R. G.

P.S. My husband is threatening to divorce me. Should I believe him?

Dear R. G.:

Just ignore the skinny bum and maybe he'll go away.

THERE'S FAT AND . . .

Dear Editor:

When you insinuate Liz Taylor's fat and when you call Barbara "Baby Jane" Hemingway fat how can you possibly be talking about the same thing? I mean, Liz may be a little overweight, a little better rounded than the average housewife, but as they say, the weight is well distributed. No matter how many extra pounds she may be carrying, the weight still manages to flow into place rather nicely.

But Baby Jane Hemingway is just plain fat, obese, overweight, whatever you want to call it—and it all comes out just plain ugly! Why would anyone want to look at 350 pounds of fat waddle around on stage? It's not the least bit pretty—and to my mind it's rather disgusting.

I can't see how this sort of everyday fatso can ever be the vogue. Men, and women, may have some pretty far-out tastes, but I think they have sense enough to stop at the point of decency.

Mrs. A. F.

Dear A. F.:

Sure they do.

INVESTIGATE ACCIDENTS

Hundreds of men with no experience, no college, have stepped into this booming, $19 billion industry. Here's the ideal career!

Consider this key fact. In the short time it takes you to read this page, 1,100 accidents will occur. That's 440,000 a day! Most of these accidents must be investigated for insurance and other companies. That's a tremendous work load. It gets bigger every year. There are not enough trained investigators to meet the demand. And that is your opportunity!

KEEP PRESENT JOB WHILE YOU TRAIN AT HOME

Hundreds of men trained by Universal have stepped into the fast-growing Accident Investigation field. Most of them had no experience and no college. They range in age from 20 to 55, come from all work backgrounds. Many are now in their own full or spare-time businesses, earning $5 to $8 an hour. Those working as staff investigators for companies enjoy fine starting pay, car furnished, expense accounts, insurance programs. And they have security. Accidents will keep right on happening, whatever the economic conditions.

FREE EMPLOYMENT HELP GIVEN

We train you in Accident Investigation quickly and in your own home in your spare time. Work at your own pace. Then, we give you free job placement help. Or, if you prefer to start your own full or spare-time business in your own home, we show you how and help you do it. Universal has trained and placed more men in this exciting field than any other school. Many students start earning long before they finish training.

FREE BOOK GIVES ALL DETAILS

Send now for Universal's free book. It explains opportunities in this fascinating field. It gives you names, locations and earnings of Universal graduates — and what they think of our training and help. You read. You consider. You decide in privacy. No salesman will call. No obligation.

NO SELLING, BUT PLENTY OF VARIETY

Accident Investigation is a service business, so you do no selling. But you do meet new people, new situations, new opportunities for profit every day. For example, part of the work of accident investigation is interviewing witnesses and people involved in accidents and losses. You become acquainted with leading persons in the community on an equal business footing. You are accepted as a man with a profession. BEHIND THE WHISPERS

Step Right Up

--And Be Sterilized!

By ARAM NOOKIM

There is a lot of talk on every hand about how easy it is these days to practice birth control—particularly since the development of The Pill—to check overpopulation in the poorer nations and to keep the world from crowding itself into the oceans.

But behind all the public hoopla about birth control practiced by women, there is a very quiet but increasingly successful effort underway to solve all the birth control problems of the world with one simple slice of the knife—by sterilizing men!!!

While this operation was once considered appropriate only for imprisoned sex maniacs—in the hope that it would prevent them from bringing more of their own kind into the world through rape and wanton brutality—it is now being considered for almost all men on all social levels in some countries.

The reason it has been kept below the whispering level until now is man's traditional belief that his "seed" is the one gift of God or nature above all others that proves his manhood, his ability to be a father, a sire and to create life.

Now, though, in the face of a threatened population explosion that will

WHIPS!

CHAINS!

TORTURE!

SICK SOCIETY'S

NEW TOYS

● A busy little boutique in New York's most fashionable discotheque—a place where high society frugs in a frenzy with teen-age hippies—is selling whips, chains and the cat-o-nine tails in miniature sizes that can be carried in pocket or purse.

● The brightly lighted, glittering shop where most of New York's most celebrated women buy their kinky, kooky clothes recently tried to advertise a dress in a national magazine—after naming the dress for one of the most violent, bloody and degrading books about human torture ever printed.

● An advertisement in one of those small, tabloid newspapers published for hippies—the East Village Other—announced a “Sadie-Masie Be-In” in a New York park and said “masters should wear chains, slaves should wear band-aids.”

● Almost every major designer in Europe—including Yves Saint-Laurent of Paris and Valentino of Rome—introduced new lines a few weeks ago emphasizing chains, bondage and various fashion notes that had been considered the property of fetishists.

● And on a Chicago street the other day, a handsome, virile-looking young man was approached by a complete stranger, another older man in a business suit, who said: “I want to be your slave.”

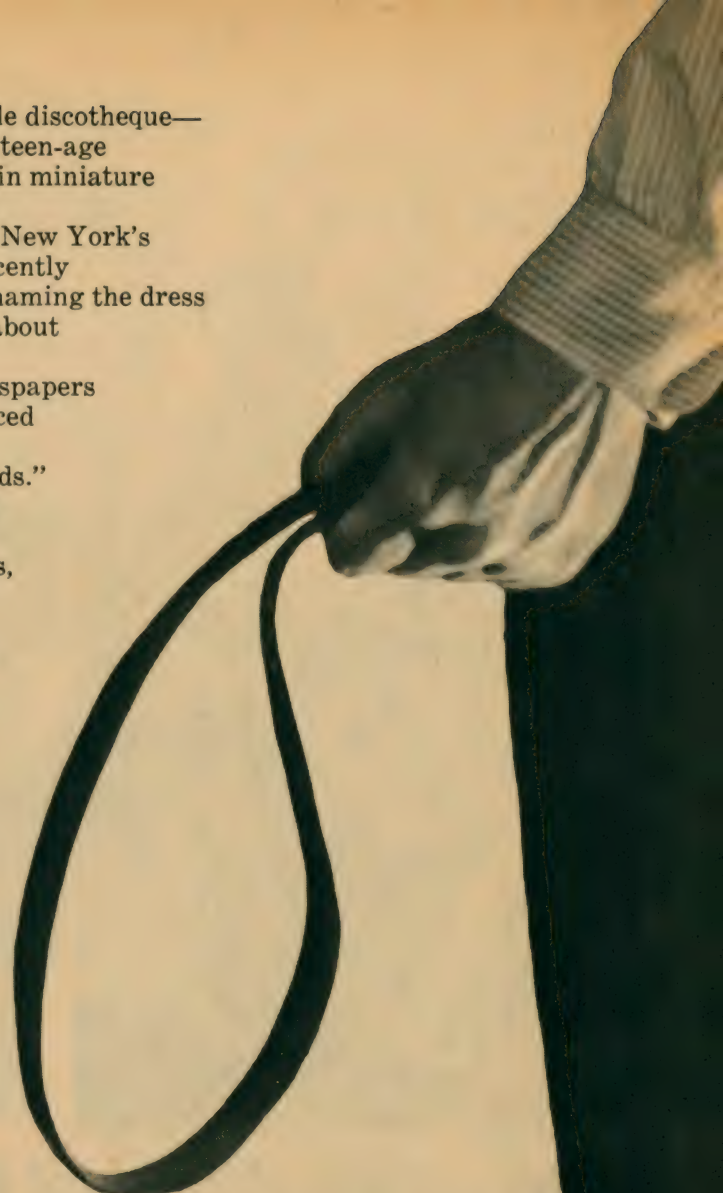

All of these are manifestations of the strangest fad ever to sweep the country: The Sadie-Masie Boom!

It means torture, the physical or psychological subjugation of one individual by another, the brutal establishment of human supremacy over human weakness.

And it's all being done for something called “fun!”

WHISPER magazine began an investigation of this whole disturbing sicknick spree a few weeks ago when it received reports of a wave of terrorism sweeping the ranks of call girls who work bars, hotels and motels.

It turned out to be true!

It was terror brought by a sudden rise in Johns who come to buy one kind of sex but change to the sort of sex the sick get from sadism.

"They get away with it most of the time," a vice squad lieutenant told WHISPER, "because they know the girls can't scream to the police without getting themselves into trouble. This guy will call and arrange to meet in her room. Then for five or 10 minutes he'll beat her savagely.

"Whatever his appetite is, he leaves a bloody, battered girl after he's had his satisfaction."

In addition to the whip marks of his deviation, the John often leaves behind the usual payment for the main event, $25 or $50, according to the police officer, but leaves it in the typical sadist's way by tearing up the money and spraying confetti on the floor. The money seldom covers the medical bills.

Since Sado-Masochism has always lurked on the border of the sex industry, sociologists say society's sudden interest in sadism and cruelty are found on a higher level.

The Cheetah, one of the most colorful and swinging of New York's discotheques, is an interesting example—right from the entrance off Times Square where the patrons are issued black and blue S & M stamps (for sadie-masie) as soon as they arrive.

The stamps can be used, when supplemented with cash, for shopping in the fashion and souvenir shop established in The Cheetah recently by Tiger Morse, a young woman who specializes in far-out fashions.

Here, among the colorful miniskirts, wide wild ties, vinyl and paper dresses and other avant-garde objects of clothing, Tiger dispenses what she calls "fun sadist regalia," like chains, whips and cat-o'-nine-tails.

If these hardly seem amusing to the un-hip or square customer, there's also the turn-on that can be had through the two-way mirrors in the dressing rooms facing the street.

While the customer can see out and the pedestrians can only see reflections, Tiger says it offers her customers "the kinky feeling of dressing in the streets."

Or undressing, of course.

While all this good, clean fashion fun is going on, the best shops in New York are featuring imported

The Chain Hangup

A hefty piece of chain is more than just a way for girls to be taken for walks by St. Bernards or Afghans. It is the current link to high fashion. There are chains for bags, chains that glisten on the tops of shoes, chain watch straps and chains by the ton around the waist. "They're a new, new look," says Lee Horgan Cass, fashion coordinator of the Broadway Department Stores of Southern California.

Fashion watchers see the chain hangup as part of the intense interest in hardware—nailheads, buckles, bits, industrial zippers, fur coats hinged instead of sewn together. But chains are more than a gimmick; they're practical. Chain handles on bags wear better than most leather ones, and a metal-link belt goes with different dresses.

Fourteen years ago, Chanel started using chains as belts, then as handles for pocketbooks.

Chanel chain bags, of course, are her trademarks. Her current collection features seven chain bags that range in size, but dozens of imitations are sold at bargain prices.

Valentino's chain dress is a fashion hit—along with chain belts by others. What's next? Newsweek says whips!

haute couture gowns from Paris stressing the sadie-masie theme.

Yves Saint-Laurent's big fashion hit of the year also happens to be a chain belt and a chain necklace—made of tortoise shell or plastic, instead of the customary iron or steel—while one of Valentino's smashes of the season is a long, flowing evening gown of black silk, completely covered with a chain design.

This same message of bondage was given to the public a few months ago in perhaps the most significant fashion design in this trend—the "Story of O Dress" introduced by a house called Paraphernalia.

The name, of course, was taken from the Grove Press novel by an anonymous author that is considered by literary critics to be the most clinical study of sexual sadism and human degradation since the Marquis de Sade wrote his books of torture and sex in the 18th century and gave his family name to the word sadism.

According to fashion insiders, the shop attempted to advertise the dress under that name in one of the country's leading

Today's Question for the American Sucker:

Why Does
Divorce
Cost More Than the Wedding?

By JACK LASCO

When a couple no longer love each other and decide to end their marital relationship why can't they obtain a divorce decree as inexpensively as they did their marriage license?

"Getting married is a reasonably simple procedure," points out Clark W. Blackburn, general director of the Family Service Association of America.

"You get a blood test, you go down to the marriage license bureau, pay perhaps $5 for a license—and that's it.

"I don't see why, when a marriage is on the rocks and every effort to save it has failed, you shouldn't go down to a 'divorce license' window and pay $5 for a license signifying your marriage is ended."

Last year there were 400,000 divorces in the United States. According to the most conservative estimate the principals paid $800 million for legal fees which figures out at $100 for every husband and wife involved.

"That estimate is for the birds," one busy divorce lawyer informed WHISPER. "According to the scale of bar association fees the minimum in the New York area is $500. The lowest is in the Southwest where legal fees range from $75 to $250 and there are the fewest number of divorces.

"And, mind you, this is only for the plaintiff's counsel in an uncon- tested divorce. There are also necessary incidentals."

For a few typical examples:

When Henry and Mary W. of New York City decided to call it quits they did some asking around and concluded that the least expensive way to obtain an airtight divorce was by collusion, i.e. to pin a phoney adultery rap on Henry.

Like many thousands of other husbands in New York State Henry was willing to go through with it—especially since it meant that he could save some money.

Mary obtained a lawyer to handle her divorce. His charge was $600 which, naturally, Henry agreed to pay. He learned that there would be some additional charges.

One was $100 for an "unidentified blonde" with whom he presumably was to be found half-naked in a hotel room, by two friends of his wife who would testify in court that they had caught him in a game of horizontal hanky panky.

Henry asked if this was necessary. He pointed out that he would be a veritable dumbnik to answer a knock on a door or leave it unlocked if he was actually engaged in cheating on his wife.

"Standard procedure," he was assured. "It's so cut and dried that if you deviate from the routine the judge may be forced to become suspicious of collusion."

Henry agreed to ante up $100 for the services of an "unidentified blonde" who would spend ten minutes in a hotel room with him and who would do no more than let her hair down and pull a bed sheet up to her neck.

He was told that he, too, would have to obtain a lawyer.

"Why?" he asked. "I certainly am not going to contest the divorce."

No matter, it was explained. He had to be legally represented in court. His lawyer would charge only $150 in view of the fact that he would offer but a token defense.

This totaled up to $850. With the addition of a few incidentals—$50 in gifts for the two friends of his wife who had perjured themselves in court and $14 for a hotel room—the divorce cost him $914.

Harry Rietra (right) and Jean Knockhart set off controversy in Roman Catholic Church when they were "married" by a priest.

Who Gets to Kiss the 'Bride' --When Homosexuals

By JOSEF FARKAS

The two young men stood solemnly before the altar of the little school chapel as a Roman Catholic priest recited the ancient Latin phrases of the Holy Mass. Harry Rietra, just 26-years-old and a tall handsome blond, turned his head as the Mass neared its conclusion and looking adoringly into the eyes of his companion, 24-year-old Jean Knockhart.

Behind them stood their proud and beaming families, along with a cluster of close friends from various parts of Europe.

Then, as the Mass ended, Jean and Harry gave each other glittering gold rings—and ignited one of the most bitter disputes in the history of the church.

Two homosexuals had just “married” each other and managed to have the ceremony solemnized with a Holy Mass!

News of this strange ceremony in Rotterdam leaked through the shocked Netherlands just a few weeks ago, bringing cries of outrage from both worshippers and church officials.

But the full story of how this ceremony was arranged as part of the round-the-world homosexual movement to win social approval of Gay Set relationships has never been told.

The shocking facts uncovered by WHISPER investigators include:

- The passionate pansies are using the marriage ceremonies between long-time lovers to show society that they are capable of quiet, “normal” lives just like everybody else.
- They attempt to slip limp wrist couples into big public wedding ceremonies—like the June Wed-In of several couples in a New York park—to show that they’re really not so different after all.
- They maneuver such ceremonies as the one in Rotterdam in the hope that it will indicate church approval of homosexual marriage and, by extension, the homosexuals themselves.
- They announce their weddings through local newspapers—the staid old New York Times will be shocked to learn that it prints at least one a week—by having one of the “girls” photographed in drag as an inside joke to tell all their friends who’s making it with whom.

The whole campaign has been a success, too! Only the ceremony in the Netherlands backfired into a public furor that will probably grow more heated now that all the facts are known.

In this case, the homosexuals took advantage of the fact that their countrymen—like a lot of Europeans—take a rather sophisticated view of such relationships. The sight of two men holding hands, even kissing in public, brings a “so what” shrug over there.

Marry?

Suspicion fell on Deputy District Attorney Jack Kirschke (above) when the bodies of his wife Elaine and her wife-swapping lover, Orville Drankham (right), were found.

Death ~~Love~~ Spins the Bottle: MURDER AMONG THE WIFE-SWAPPERS

By ALFIE PEEM
Whisper Correspondent

LOS ANGELES—

Most popular of all the games people play is one that is almost as old as sex itself. Kids used to call it "Spin the Bottle."

And mate-swappers in several other states call it "California Roulette" because Californians have made it their favorite indoor sport.

There are no set rules, but the players usually are young married couples living in the suburbs. They are bored, terribly bored, with the usual suburban diversions—TV, movies, Little League and PTA meetings. So they form a sex club. And every week they get together for a game of California (or Italian) Roulette.

After drinks and dinner, the wives sit down in a circle on the floor. The husbands take turns sitting in the center of the circle. They spin a bottle and, when it stops revolving, the woman at whom the bottleneck points is the spinner's bed partner for the night.

To avoid the possibility of ending up with her own mate, a woman is not allowed to sit in the circle while her husband is playing.

Police found one of these Bottle Clubs thriving in Sacramento, California's capital. But there was nothing the cops could do about it. After a long and careful study of the lawbooks, the Sacramento District Attorney's office announced: "Wife-swapping does not violate any section of the California Penal Code."

The DA's office added that such clubs are "a shocking and an appalling example to impressionable youngsters."

Despite this word of caution, the official opinion that wife-swapping is legal set off a fresh round of Saturday night orgies. New swap clubs sprang up all over the state. Thousands of prosperous Californians rushed to join, including many conservative couples who are shocked by the antics of San Francisco hippies, Berkeley students and Hollywood stars.

But California Roulette, like Russian Roulette, can be a deadly game.

It was for Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, a shapely redhead who was widely known in the California worlds of women's fashions and suburban sex.

"Jack and Elaine Kirschke were nothing if not adult about adultery," it was authoritatively reported in Time magazine. "He liked women and she liked men, and neither was a spoilsport.

"There was only one house rule for their not-quite-home on vogueish Rivo Alto Canal in Naples, Calif.: when one party had the pad, the other stayed away."

The Kirschkes had been married 24 years. Jack was, of all things, Deputy District Attorney, in charge of the suburban Downey office of Los Angeles DA Evelle Younger. Elaine was a chief fashion designer for Gorgee Originals of Los Angeles.

Between them, they earned between $35,000 and $40,000 a year—and spent nearly all of it on La Dolce Vita.

When their children grew up and left home, they rented a luxury apartment in an upper-income Naples neighborhood famed for its swinging parties.

They kept a 33-foot sloop at the nearby Long Beach Yacht Club, where they met friendly folk of both sexes.

On a warm Sunday night last April, a neighbor called at the Kirschke pad on Rivo Alto Canal. The door was ajar so the neighbor went in and found Elaine and her latest lover in the bedroom.

What made this situation unusual was the fact that they both were dead.

Elaine was sprawled on the bed, wearing only an open kimono jacket. On the floor beside the bed lay the fully-clothed body of electronics executive Orville Drankham, 41. Each had been shot in the head, the redhead through the right ear and Drankham in the left ear.

The dining room table was set for two, with full wine glasses and a salad bowl in the center. Steaks were on a cold hibachi.

Elaine and Drankham had been seen together at Long Beach Yacht Club the Friday night before the murder. They left around 1 a.m. Saturday and went to the Kirschke apartment. Detectives narrowed the time of the killings to between 1:30 and 3 a.m. Saturday.

A few hours after the bodies were discovered, highway patrolmen arrested Jack Kirschke at a road block in Victorville, 100 miles east of Naples. He was driving home after a weekend in Las Vegas.

At the time of the murders, Kirschke said, he was en route to Las Vegas to attend a Rotary Club convention. Police verified that he had been in the Nevada gambling paradise, 300 miles from Naples. But they also claimed he could have committed the double murder before he left home.

The cops also expressed an interest in Kirschke's pistols, one of them a .38. "I haven't seen them for months," Kirschke said. "I don't know what happened to them."

After hearing testimony from 36 witnesses, including fellow members of the Naples mate-swapping set, a grand jury indicted the former prosecutor on two counts of murder.

Undismayed, Kirschke told newsmen: "I'm an officer of the court. I trust in God and I have faith in the American system of criminal justice."

Meanwhile, in far-off New Jersey, authorities charged that another merry wife was a victim of California Roulette.

Police said the murder of 21-year-old Judy Kavanaugh, a vivacious redhead, stemmed from the mate-swapping activities of a sex club to which she and her husband belonged. Other members included several swinging socialite couples, a prominent Jersey politician, a policeman and a newspaper publisher, detectives reported.

Judy was shot and strangled on Feb. 24, 1966. Her semi-nude body later was found in a gully near her home in Clifton, N.J. Her husband, Paul, 24, was indicted for the murder a few months ago. Four other members of the swap club also were indicted in the case.

Back in California, a Malibu family was awakened one Saturday morning by the pounding of fists on their front door. The pounders were members of the Los Angeles County Vice Squad.

The youngest member of the family, a 6-year-old girl, opened the door. Then the vice cops charged in and arrested her parents for appearing in lewd movies.

Old hands at the game of California Roulette, the young couple had frequently engaged in mate-swapping. At one of their regular social gatherings, they heard about another swinging couple named George and Marie.

An introduction was arranged and the Malibu couple invited George and Marie to their home. The Malibu wife, Heloise, later recalled what happened that evening:

"George proceeded to film the activities of his wife and another swinging guest. Not realizing there was anything criminal about this activity, I got into the action for a few moments—long enough to ruin my life and that of my entire family.

"As it turned out, George was engaged in selling lewd films and Marie was a prostitute. When they were arrested on these charges by the vice squad, the film made at our house was confiscated. The vice squad learned our names, came to our house and arrested me on felony sex charges. After they located some other pictures, my husband was also arrested.

"We admit having engaged in 'swapping' activities, but we had never heard there was anything illegal about sex between consenting adults in the privacy of one's home."

They weren't charged with mate-swapping, however. They were charged with violating Penal Code Section 288A, dealing with oral copulation, also known as oral-genital sex. In California, this is a crime punishable by up to 15 years in prison.

Heloise and her husband were placed on three years' probation. As a result of the publicity given the case, he lost his job and was denied unemployment insurance.

"This mess has ruined our reputation, taken our life savings, and caused grief and humiliation to our children and other members of our family," Heloise said recently. "We don't feel we are criminals for having engaged in swapping, but must bear this stigma the rest of our lives."

These cases illustrate the hidden menace in the sordid world of wife-swapping. Yet the game still has many players. No one knows how many adult Americans belong to sex swap clubs, but authorities estimate the total membership is in the millions.

In Atlanta, Ga., police raided an organization called Club Rebel, described as a regional "sex clearing house" for a nationwide sex club with offices in New York, Chicago, Dallas, Los Angeles and Orlando, Fla.

THE BIZARRE PRIVATE LIFE OF SONNY & CHER

By RAYMOND NINK
Whisper Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—

It's a $100,000 pseudo-Spanish mansion—the interior decor features a built-in bar, the kind of nightmare gaudiness . . . plastic flowers.

Plastic flowers in sunny California!?

Yes, plastic flowers, three dogs of no particular pedigree, and in the garage sit a Mercedes Excalibar, an Aston-Martin, four motorcycles, and a pair of matching Mustangs with Bobcat upholstery.

"We only use the Mustangs in our movie for custom car show promotions," explains the female occupant of this bizarre castle which clashes so violently with the character and clothes of the occupants.

"That's the trouble with quick fame. We had to buy a furnished place fast," says the hairy husband seated on the couch.

The hair is shoulder-length, all the way around it seems, but you know when he's looking at you because his nose sticks out.

He's wearing an Astrakan lamb vest over a turtleneck sweater.

The setting is the suburban home in the San Fernando Valley of Sonny and Cher—two of the hottest properties in show biz, the King and Queen of the hippies!

Every once in a while they leave this joint long enough to sing their songs of protest before such "hippies" as Jackie Kennedy, Mayor Sam Yorty, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Barry Goldwater, Mary Pickford, and, oh, yes, Princess Margaret.

They also cut an occasional record that always skyrockets to the top of the charts—ditties like "I Got You, Babe," "What Now My Love," "Bang, Bang," "Baby Don't Go," "The Beat Goes On," and about a half-dozen others that make them a $15,000-a-night act, earn them half-a-million dollars a year in personal appearances.

Sonny, now 28, writes most of their material, and 21-year old Cher designs their look-alike outfits, numbering over 200 at last count, which they wear at personal appearances—and which usually get them tossed out of restaurants, hotels when they appear in them off-stage. Cher likes for them to dress alike.

"It looks cute," she explains. "Some people have a built-in hostility toward anything different, but their attitude doesn't bother me."

Janine Gray and James Coburn cavort happily in "The Americanization of Emily." Will they do it in your living room?

Those Hot Nude Movies

Marina Jldy and Ugo Tognazzi in "The Conjugal Bed" demonstrate what the title means and what's next for television.

Are Coming To TV

By JERRY MOTHE

Take a choice:

June Allyson, in a skirt that falls far below her knees, skipping across the quiet meadow to the side of pretty Peter Lawford and planting a cool, tightlipped kiss on his cheek.

Or...

Voluptuous, velvet-smooth Janine Gray slips out of all her clothes except the briefest pair of panties, skips bare-breasted across the hotel room into the arms of James Coburn for a searing, soulful embrace. He doesn't say anything as they topple over into the bed.

The reason you are being offered a choice is that both these scenes are scheduled to take place in your living room—on the gleaming blue TV tube that takes away your cares each evening with a steady diet of instant entertainment.

The syrupy scene with June and her Peter is on tonight. The raunchy, roaring romp between Janine and James will be on tomorrow night—or maybe the night after.

And what it means is that all the nudies, the lewdies, the rudies of the 1960's are heading toward TV to fill the generation gap between the old-fashioned flicks Hollywood sold to television and the sizzling screen epics being turned out by the Los Angeles movie makers and foreign companies.

The signal for this rush of bold films for the television market has followed by only a few weeks the announcement in Hollywood that the 30-year-old film censorship code had been completely revamped to permit frank discussion and display of the facts of life, and the $115-million purchase by the National Broadcasting Company of one of the last big supplies of aging films still being held by a major Hollywood studio.

Along with the decision to rewrite the censorship code, which forbade film exploration of sex, drugs, abortion and other real-life questions in frank terms, came an interpretation of the new rules that shocked the old-timers in Hollywood.

Jack Valenti, former presidential assistant and now motion picture censorship czar, said the new rules would even permit the American filmmakers to show the bare breasts of the movie sexpots—almost going as far as the European filmmakers have been for years in those celluloid scorchers Americans seldom see.

The effect of the ruling was instantaneous. It freed such producers as Otto Preminger to go ahead with the dramatic scene in "Hurry Sundown," where Michael Caine is shown unbuttoning Jane Fonda's blouse and caressing her in one of the most candid demonstrations of sexual arousal ever filmed.

Also the effect of the huge sale by United Artists to NBC of 95 old films was broader, but no less important, since it meant that the Hollywood warehouses were just about cleaned out by the TV's insatiable appetite for films.

With those gone, that appetite will be gobbling up new supplies as fast as Hollywood will let them go

All these searing scenes are from foreign films—including the Lesbian love clutch at right—and their owners hope to find a place for them on your TV.

—as shown by the fact that the American Broadcasting Company paid $5 million the other day, just for the rights to show Liz Taylor's bare derriere in "Cleopatra" twice in 1970.

"Where will we go for more films?" one television executive was asked. "To any source we can find, and that includes Europe and Asia. We haven't taken too many of their pictures until now, simply because they are more sophisticated and bolder.

"Many of them could not be cut for American viewing because it would mean cutting out the entire story line. Some of the Bardot films wouldn't make sense without the nude scenes, for example. The nude parts may be either funny or dramatic, but, either way, they're essential.

"Now with the broadening of Hollywood's range, it indicates we will be dealing with a more sophisticated audience out there in televisionland, people who won't drop a can of beer on the living room rug when the girl on the screen drops the bra on the bedroom floor."

The fact that television executives must now think about attracting the big new "youth market" isn't lost on any of them when they look around at the idols of the day and find the late great Bogarts, Gables, Tracys and Flynns being replaced by the Elvises, Ringos, Micks and Daveys.

"Not only does each generation have its new idols," one such executive pointed out, "but it also has its own moral code that goes far beyond anything we are prepared to accept in middle age.

"What can you tell any 16-year-old kid about sex that he hasn't known for years? What can you tell him about drugs? Or what can you tell him about outer space? There's no point in trying to be coy, trying to get a rise out of them with a slight hint at the facts of life. They know where it's at these days.

"What the older generation has to do, oddly enough, is try to catch up with the younger one."

A number of Hollywood movie producers think they can do some fast-buck catching up by giving their pictures a bigger booster of sexy sequences.

Most Hollywood insiders know that these producers have made it a practice for years to shoot two different versions of the more exciting portions of their movies, distributing one in the United States while the broader version has gone overseas.

Now these producers, working with the freedom of the new censorship code and the fresh demand from TV for better material, think they see a way to make a sale by putting the European scenes back into the movies.

A Hollywood producer cited the bloody epic "Genghis Khan" as an example of what might be done. This horror on horseback film about the Mongol hordes contains a scene where the ancient Tartar's sweaty officers finally take a bath after a long, hard session in the saddle.

And no wonder they bathe, for the scrubbing is handled by a squad of sensual slave girls, who have little choice between losing their modesty or losing their heads.

In the version filmed for the American release, the scene shows the sultry scrubbers wearing as little as possible, but at least wearing something.

In the European version, the beauties of the bath were filmed wearing nothing at all while they got the mangy Mongols lathered up.

"There are hundreds of pictures like that around," the Hollywood producer said. "With those scenes put back in them, they'd be like brand-new movies again."

But will the new TV gold include some of the more avant-garde European films? Some film moguls think so, but not until next year.

They point to the television audience acceptance already of a film like "Advise and Consent," built around the political struggle in Washington and with a strong theme of homosexuality, for which one of the characters is black-mailed.

Homosexuality is now turning up in many films both here and abroad, they note, with the most notable example at present being "Reflections in a Golden Eye," starring Marlon Brando and Elizabeth Taylor.

In this scorcher, which includes a strip-tease by the bountiful Liz and nude scenes (alas, done by a double), the high points are not only homosexuality but such perversions as voyeurism, pederasty and murder.

A Royal Headache: THE HUSH-HUSH ESCAPADES OF ITALY'S FAR-OUT PRINCESSES

Royal sisters Princesses Maria Beatrice (left), Maria Gabriella (center) and Maria Pia have almost managed to set a track record for one family's brushes with Jet Set notoriety.

By DINO PUNG

Once upon a time there was a king who had three beautiful daughters...

That may sound like the start of a typical fairy tale. But this bedtime story is strictly heterosexual.

It could be titled "Royalty, Italian Style."

Or maybe "The House of Savoy Is Not a Home."

The House of Savoy is a royal family, one of the most ancient and aristocratic in Europe. Its current head is exiled King Umberto II of Italy.

Umberto has one son, Prince Victor Emmanuel, and three daughters, Princesses Maria Pia, 33; Maria Gabriella, 27, and Maria Beatrice, 23.

A few years ago, while Prince Victor Emmanuel was indulging his taste for wine, women and La Dolce Vita, the ex-king complained: "My son is ruining the good name of the House of Savoy."

But vivacious Vic has calmed down.

And his sisters have taken over the joyous job of wrecking the Savoy reputation.

At a society ball in Rome recently, one diamond-dripping dowager sniffed that the three Marias are turning the House of Savoy into a home for delinquent girls.

However, the princesses can hardly be classified as either girls or delinquents. They are old enough to know what they like. And what they like is men.

As the three Marias are as lovely as they are lively, they have never had any difficulty finding suitable suitors. But with so many rich, handsome, hot-blooded males around, they had considerable trouble making up their minds.

"All three Italian princesses are suffering with 'man trouble,'" a widely circulated magazine said recently in response to a reader's report that: "Europe is all agog over the daughters of ex-King Umberto. I understand they are involved in one scandal after another."

Some of the scandals have been kept under wraps—slightly soiled ermine wraps, no doubt.

For example, there was a mysterious shooting in which Princess Maria Beatrice, Umberto's youngest daughter, was seriously wounded.

A private ambulance rushed her to a Madrid clinic last March 20. Doctors later reported she had been hit by two bullets in the chest and wrist. The only other detail given out was that she was recovering.

United Press International said she was wounded "in what was described as a hunting accident."

Those who know the princesses best interpreted this enigmatic explanation as meaning Maria Beatrice may have been shot while stalking her favorite game—a two-legged wolf.

There was also speculation that the "hunting accident" occurred after she was jilted by a handsome Spanish bullfighter whose career she had been following with more than casual interest.

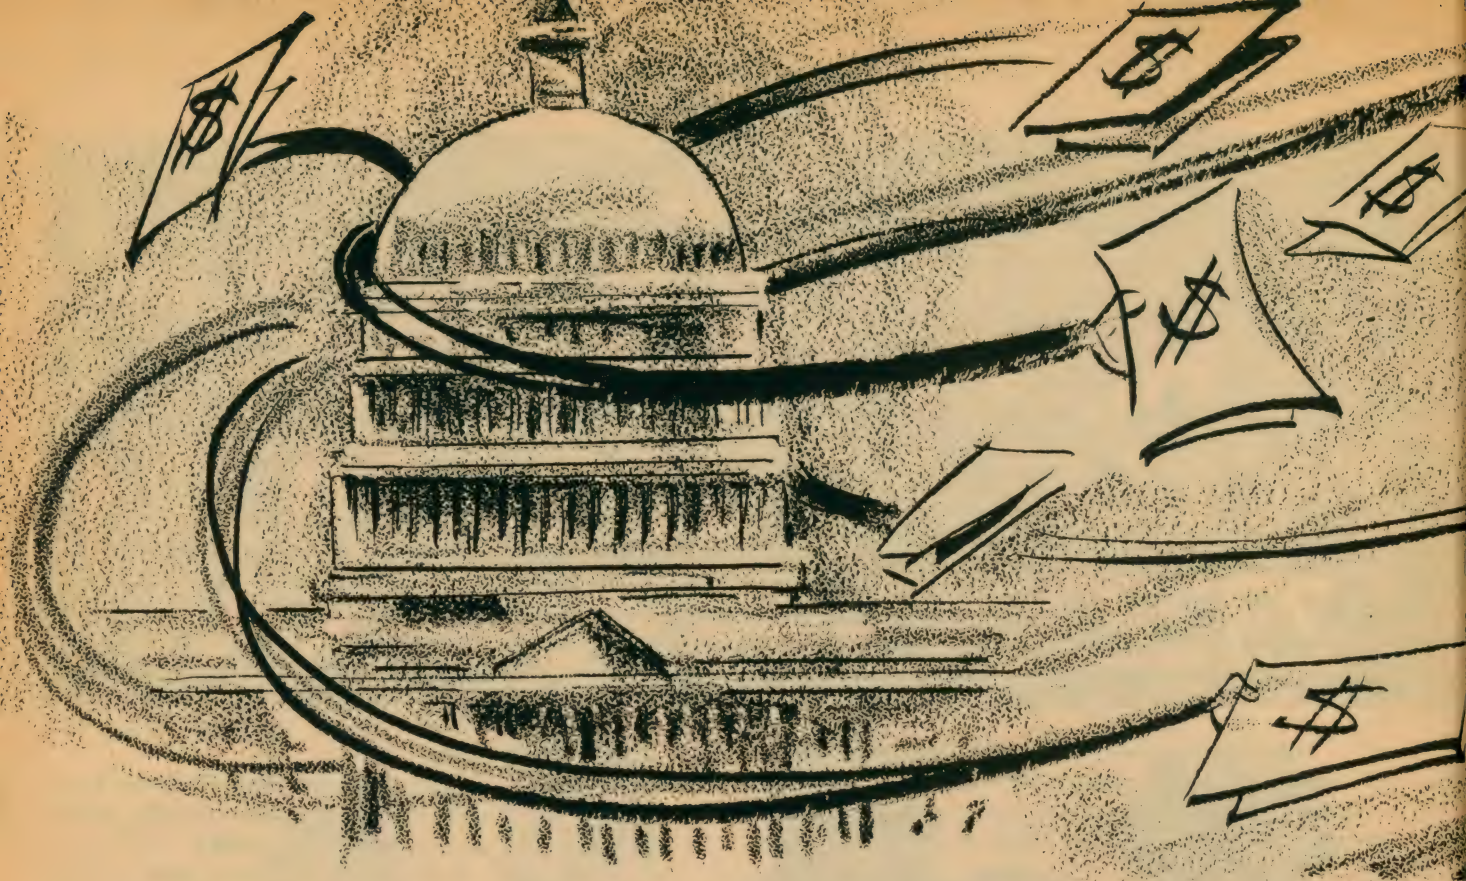

The Jet Set grapevine spread the rumor that Beatrice had tried to end it all—but her aim was bad.

Meanwhile, Princess Maria Pia and Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia also decided to end it. Their 12-year-old marriage, that is.

They were wed in 1955, when Maria Pia was a radiant 20. The ceremony was held in a centuries-old church at Cascais, Portugal,

Who Gets Those Crazy Grants

By DAN FRENK

Each Friday of the year, all over the United States, tens of millions of Americans spend an agonizing moment looking at the horror story of the century.

It's called, "The Incredibly Shrinking Paycheck."

On paper, the average American working man is earning more and more. The trouble is, somebody somewhere is working from a different paper, because the fact is the average American working man is taking home less and less, and will continue to take home less and less.

Oh, the "more and more" is there all right, any $200-a-week government economist can show it to you in black and white, even though your bank balance keeps yelling "help!"—in red.

Why this apparent paradox?

It's because while the average Joe is spreading his shrinking take-home pay thinner than the icing on a nickel cupcake—you know, on "luxuries" like rent, food, clothes, the dentist, maybe a Saturday night beer and a broad—the Federal Government is laying the ice cream ever thicker on somebody's favorite slice of political pie every place else in the world.

There's the war in Vietnam, of course. Taxes must pay for that.

Then there are those trips around the world congressmen and their families take to inspect how some of your tax money's being spent in a place like Lower Flamislam.

Then there are those trips other congressmen take to double-check those first trips.

Then, of course, there's lots of money needed to take care of those people here who don't work and don't get paid and so don't pay taxes.

And then . . . then there's that fascinating phenomenon of the Twentieth Century called the Government Grant.

This bit of Federal log-rolling is utterly fascinating, and, since everybody's money goes to finance these grants, as a public service WHISPER is going to tell you about some of them.

Helping us along in the research is U.S. Rep. Richard L. Roudebush of Indiana, who has also become so entranced by some of the Government Grants he has asked for a special congressional investigation of some of them.

For example:

Would you believe a $20,600 research grant by the National Science Foundation for the study of German cockroaches?

What's that you say? For only $5 a month the exterminator comes around and studies your home grown 100 per cent American kind?

Taken From Your Tax $$$$?

Ah, but that's the rub, buddy. These are German roaches. Who knows how many were card-carrying Nazis in the old days and may be instigating a new brown-roach putsch right this minute in some Munich worst shop?

You're not convinced; we can tell by the puzzled look on your face.

Well, would you believe, then, a $34,950 grant for a compilation of British Parliamentary Diaries of 1626? How about $10,000 to study phases of Chinese life from the 14th to 17th Centuries?

What's the matter? Don't you care about maybe discovering the origin of fortune cookies? Don't you want to know what Moo Goo Gai Pan really is?

Oh. You know what Moo Goo Gai Pan really is, you say. That's why you won't eat it.

Wait! Here's a government grant we know you'll gladly shell out for. It's the $18,800 grant for a paper entitled, "Did Burke Write the 18th Century Journal, the Annual Register?"

No, we're not kidding. It costs a lot of money to prepare a paper. Look how long just the title is! Imagine how much paper this paper will consume!

The paper companies gotta make a living, too, don't they?

But wait! There's

Sex Dens of San Francisco

One of WHISPER'S constant readers returned to his home from a frisky trip to Frisco recently, remembering the expose in the October, 1963 issue of CONFIDENTIAL of sex in a steam-bath.

"Things haven't changed a bit," he said. "Reprint that article." All right. We will.

The Editor

By M. P. TROY

Certain San Francisco steam baths are nothing more than "sex dens" for sex hungry "homosexuals!" The now closed Palace Baths, which operated for years in the heart of downtown San Francisco, was once linked with an out of state operation, which hired young handsome, athletic type young men to pose as "masseurs" . . . but their actual classification would be that of hustler or male prostitute. The older deviate, lured by these young, athletic Greek Gods could not resist temptation and most usually paid a handsome fee for their massage.

During San Francisco's last mayoralty race, homosexuality became a major issue broadcast by the Democratic candidate, thus causing a tightening of policy throughout the gay hangouts; however, there are sex dens operating throughout the city today and apparently so without any restrictions.

A number of these so-called steam baths are located in downtown San Francisco; with one operating on a 24-hour basis in the city's Financial District, sometimes called the Wall Street of the West.

These sex dens are operated on the basis of an ordinary hotel. Their only differences are that all guests (none excluded) must pay in advance and unlike the ordinary hotel, locker space is provided when rooms are not available. Rates vary anywhere from $2 to $5 per visit, depending on the length of stay and the type of den you choose.

This reporter chose as a starter, a T—Street establishment, worldly known throughout the gay set. Arriving around 8:00 P.M. on a Friday night, I was informed that all rooms (more than 100) were occupied and I was advised to take locker space until a room became available.

Registering, I was presented with a bath towel and a wrap-around (about the width of a regular kitchen towel, and perhaps double in length) and told to enter through a door which was electrically locked and controlled by a buzzer in the attendant's cage.

Locating my locker, I undressed and used the wrap-around (which somehow made me feel as though I were in a bikini), I ventured to the snack bar lounge which featured a variety of hot and cold drinks and a sign indicating that sandwiches were on sale at the desk.

In the hallways, several signs informed guests that only one person was allowed in any one room at one time; however, these it appeared were placed there for police inspectional purposes. Some rooms, although no larger in size than a twin size bed, held as many as six people.

In the shower, steam room and a dimly lit reading room, sexual orgies were in progress, while others patrolled the hallways in search of a sex companion. Here, there are no drawbacks and everyone makes out because they know that there are no limitations as to how far they can go.

On several occasions, I was approached by numerous young men who asked me openly if I would care to indulge in homosexual relations with them. Refusing, one stopped me with this shocker: "Usually everybody who comes here is gay."

The list of clientele includes executives, married men away from the wife for the night, doctors, dentists and other professional men. Here they can go secretly, indulge in their sex perversion and have little worry as regards the police or vice squad.

Leaving the T—Street house, I ventured two blocks away to an E—Street establishment, finding almost the identical layout. Here a swimming pool had been added for comfort. An additional attendant on duty

IS A HIDDEN SNIPER

TAKING AIM AT YOU?

By ALVIN PEEVIS

On a blazing August day in 1966, a mad sniper climbed to the top of a 307-foot tower on the University of Texas campus and began shooting everyone in sight.

Before he was killed himself by police bullets, Charles Joseph Whitman massacred 13 people and wounded 31.

He shot almost everyone who walked or rode on the sprawling campus below and in the nearby streets of Austin, Texas.

When the slaughter was over and the victims had been carried off to morgues and hospitals, police discovered the 24-year-old sniper had also murdered his wife and mother.

The nude body of Whitman's pretty wife, Kathleen, 23; was found sprawled on a bed in their Austin apartment. She had been stabbed to death.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret Whitman, was found dead in her apartment a few blocks away. She had been shot in the head and stabbed in the chest.

After killing the two women closest to him, the former Marine sharpshooter assembled a small arsenal of weapons—three rifles, a sawed-off shotgun, a Luger pistol, a large Bowie knife and hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

Then he went to the observation deck atop the Texas University tower and launched the massacre that shocked the world.

Whitman's total score—15 dead—set a new record for American mass murders.

But Charlie Whitman, the handsome college student described by many who knew him as an 'all-American boy,' was only one of many mass killers and deadly snipers who left a trail of blood and carnage across the U.S. last year.

On soft spring weekends in April and May, 19-year-old Thomas Penn of Richmond, Va., took his .22-caliber pistol and went out sniping.

Selecting victims at random, the Negro youth slaughtered six people in six weeks—four white men, (Continued on next page)

A Negro man and a 16-year-old Negro girl.

He sneaked up behind his male victims and emptied his gun into their backs and heads. Sometimes he reloaded and emptied the pistol into them a second time. One victim, James C. Carter, 52, had a dozen bullets in his back, head and stomach.

Three of the victims, including the girl, were found in woods near Richmond's Oakwood Cemetery.

Penn told the terrified girl, Cynthia Johnson: "It's your turn to go. God has called you." Then he shot her nine times.

He had never seen any of his victims before. When arrested, he admitted all six murders. At his trial for Cynthia's murder, his lawyer claimed Penn was a paranoid schizophrenic with an uncontrollable compulsion to kill. He was sentenced to life in prison.

On August 26, a factory worker turned his mail-order carbine on seven persons in a crowded apartment at the Elm Haven housing project in New Haven, Conn. Six of them died. All involved were Negroes.

Police said goateed Arthur (Willie) Davis, 37, went to the apartment looking for his former girl friend. She wasn't there, so he shot everyone in sight.

At his trial, the defense claimed Davis was driven to kill by drink, frustration and "an irresistible impulse." He was sentenced to die in the electric chair.

On Nov. 12 in the desert city of Mesa, Ariz., 18-year-old Robert Benjamin Smith calmly walked into the Rose-Mar College of Beauty with a pistol in his pocket. In the space of a few minutes, he methodically massacred four young women and a 3-year-old girl.

Smith knew none of his victims. Police who arrested him reported he laughed when he confessed the murders, but he couldn't explain why he killed.

Local girls were attracted by his dark good looks and keen mind, but he seldom dated. He was a loner, an introvert, "a kid nobody knew."

They are well known now—Smith, Whitman, Penn, Davis. These four mass murderers snuffed out 32 lives last year. And except for Whitman's wife and mother and three of Davis' victims, all the dead were complete strangers to the killers.

There were many other incidents of senseless violence and murder.

In Honolulu, a mad sniper killed a policeman and wounded five other persons.

In New York, two snipers firing air guns from a car wounded 17 people in a three-hour shooting spree. No one was killed but one victim lost the sight of his right eye.

Near Santa Maria, Calif., a 16-year-old boy hid in hillside grass above busy U.S. Route 101 and fired a high-powered rifle at passing cars. He killed two motorists, wounded 11 other drivers and passengers and fought a gun battle with police before killing himself with a bullet between the eyes.

At Vancouver, Canada, a young college professor and his wife were shot dead by a mad sniper as they picked strawberries in their backyard.

And in the race riots that exploded all over the U.S. last summer, snipers killed more than 100 innocent people and wounded thousands.

No one knows where a demented sniper or mass murderer will strike next. No one knows who the next victim will be.

It could be you!

The entire world was sick with horror when a sniper killed President Kennedy. But not even the death of a President could convince the nation's lawmakers that tighter weapons controls are necessary.

"When it comes to curbing the shooting iron," one Washington correspondent observed, "Congress has the slowest draw in the East."

When he aimed his mail-order carbine out the window of the Texas School Book Depository, Lee Harvey Oswald at least had a specific target in mind. Most snipers and mass killers do not.

The most terrifying thing about their crimes is the complete lack of reason, motive or emotion. Suddenly they decide to kill, so they slaughter anyone who happens to be handy.

"The menace of the psychotic killer is the more frightening because he may seem a model citizen

On a warm, moonlit night last spring, a sleek Ferrari sports car stopped outside a motel off the Auto Strada near Rome.

The hour was late and the motel was crowded, but the management always kept a bedroom reserved for special customers. And the Ferrari driver was one of the most special.

A portly, silver-haired man in his early 50s, he was both a titled member of the Roman aristocracy and a high-ranking official of the Italian Government. He usually visited the motel at least twice a week, with a different girl nearly every time.

This one was a sun-browned, mini-skirted blonde young enough to be his daughter. English or Swedish, the clerk deduced as he ogled her long, lovely legs and blouse-stretching bosom.

Actually, she was a vacationing school teacher from Hartford, Connecticut.

The Roman Romeo signed the register with his customary alias. Then the clerk ushered them to a room.

A few minutes later, as the clerk was dozing off behind his desk, a shrill scream shattered the silence. He looked out the office window and saw the blonde go sprinting past.

At first glance, he thought she was wearing only panties and bra. Then he realized the light patches over breasts and thighs, contrasting with her suntan, were strips of unsunned skin.

She was completely naked.

Behind her, wearing silk shorts and carrying both their clothes in his arms, ran the paunchy play-

---And There Goes

boy. They jumped into the Ferrari and roared away.

The motel clerk was left to wonder what erotic lovemaking variation the blonde had objected to.

Her behavior, both the clerk and the playboy concluded, was most strange—even for a foreigner. The blonde thought the same thing about the Roman Romeo.

Back home in Hartford, she told a girl friend about the incident that sent her screaming naked into the night. She had met the Italian official at a party given by some Americans living in Rome. Next day he took her sightseeing, followed by dinner in a cozy restaurant and a tour of the Via Veneto nightclubs.

Eventually they went for a moonlight spin in his sports car and wound up at the motel. There, the playboy began acting in a very peculiar fashion. While the blonde undressed, he peered behind wall pictures and under the furniture.

Then he dropped to the floor and carefully inspected the bottom of the bed.

"What are you doing?" the blonde inquired.

"Looking for bed bugs," he explained.

At this point, she took off in her birthday suit.

The Italian, of course, did not know the blonde was terrified of crawling insects. And the blonde did not know the "bed bugs" to which he referred, in his best American slang, were not insects at all but electronic eavesdropping devices.

Their night of love was ruined because the married playboy suspected the motel boudoir had been bugged by Italy's Secret Service, the SID.

The SID, short for Servizio Informazioni Difesa (Defense Information Service), is supposed to be a spy-catching agency somewhat similar to America's FBI and CIA.

But instead of tracking down enemy agents and safeguarding defense secrets, the SID seems more interested in SIN.

Until a few months ago, the agency had some 7000 Latin James Bonds and Peeping Tomasos snooping into the private lives of 200,000 Italians—none of whom had access to Italy's security secrets.

The Sexpionage Service compiled dossiers on just about every prominent Italian from President Giuseppe Saragat on down. Investigators spied on government officials, swap parties for members in the Atlanta area, Club Rebel published classified ads for its sex services and also ran a correspondence center in which letters were exchanged between thrill-seeking couples. Records seized by the raiders indicated the club handled more than 1,000 letters a month.

Wife-Swap Murders

Many of these letters, confiscated by the cops, contained detailed accounts of unnatural sex acts and orgies. Club members paid $12 annual dues plus a $1 fee for forwarding letters. The club also provided, at extra cost, a steady supply of sex magazines, nude photos and obscene recordings—described by one lawyer as “pornograph records.”

Among the literature seized in the raid was a club brochure proclaiming: “WIFE-SWAPPING—A WAY OF LIFE.”

In California, where it certainly is just that, police were intrigued by the following classified advertisement in a Sacramento newspaper: “Modern young married couple, Sacramento area, would like to meet same.”

It was this ad which led to exposure of the Sacramento swap club—and to the District Attorney's discovery that orgies are legal in California so long as they are held indoors.

“We don't hold orgies,” a member of the Sacramento club insists despite evidence to the contrary.

“This isn't a California version of Rome's Dolce Vita. We don't drink or take drugs the way they do in Rome.

“My wife and I get together with about 20 other modern couples every Saturday night. Each week we meet at a different member's home. After dinner, we play Italian Roulette. Then we all pair off and retire to the bedrooms or some other private part of the house, maybe even the garden. Sometimes, for variety, we take movies or watch each other perform or experiment with different sex techniques. But there's nothing sordid about it.”

“Sometimes we all get together on Sunday mornings. The husbands make coffee for the wives and we all discuss our adventures of the night before. None of us are jealous. In fact, these weekly exchanges have made our marriages more meaningful.

“Now my wife and I enjoy each other's company during the week and look forward to our weekends with the club. It's more fun than any golf, tennis or country club!”

“Sure, we know what goes on,” says a California law-enforcement official. “But there is not even a local statute under which prosecutions can be made. So long as these orgies are kept within private premises, there is nothing we can do.

“But whatever these people say to justify their activities, they are wrong. These are sick people. And their games of bedroom roulette can only end in tragedy.”

Italy's Princesses

and the guest list read like a Who's Who of European royalty.

The following year, the princess gave birth to twin sons, Dmitri and Nicholas. But though she was now a mother, the pretty young aristocrat was not ready to jump off the Jet Set merry-go-round.

Eventually she found a new Prince Charming, or at least a charming new prince. She was seen around Paris with Prince Michel de Bourbon-Parme, just about as elegant a catch as any girl could hope to make.

When Prince Alexander learned he wasn't the only royal romance of Maria Pia's life, he divorced her.

The decree came through a few months ago, at a time when Maria Pia's sister, Maria Gabriella, was awaiting the final round in another divorce battle.

This one involved multimillionaire Robert de Balkany and his wife Genevieve, daughter of a French diplomat. De Balkany, a Hungarian who now lives in Paris, divorced Genevieve after he discovered Gabriella. Then he applied for an annulment so that he and the princess could be married in church.

At this writing, the annulment hadn't come through. But even if it does, there is a good chance that Gabriella will alter her plans when it comes time to stroll down the bridal path.

Europe's prettiest princess, Gabriella has been reported engaged many times.

But she hasn't taken a husband—except those she took away from their wives.

Her suitors have included the Shah of Iran; Prince Juan Carlos de Bourbon, who may some day be King of Spain; Prince Charles of Luxembourg; Spanish bullfighter Rafael Peralta; Italian movie star Walter Chiari, once the favorite escort of Ava Gardner; Robert Vallarino Gancia, son of Italy's champagne king, and other highly eligible contenders.

The Shah of Iran entered her busy young life in 1959, the year after he divorced Princess Soraya. Looking for a new queen, he made a hunting expedition to Europe and set his sights on Gabriella.

Ex-King Umberto was agreeable to the match but his estranged wife, Queen Maria Jose, said it was “impossible” because “the church would never approve.”

Although the Vatican gave a special dispensation for Maria Pia's marriage to Prince Alexander, a member of the Eastern Orthodox Church, it made it clear there would be no such tolerance for a match between Gabriella and a Moslem potentate.

The Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, discussed the marriage rumors in an editorial and pointed out that the Roman Catholic Church disapproves of marriages between persons of different faiths whether they are commoners or kings.

“POPE BANS MARRIAGE OF PRINCESS TO SHAH,” The New York Times announced in a front-page headline.

Actually, it was Gabriella herself who called it off.

“I will never, but never, marry Shah Reza Pahlevi,” she said at the time. “The only Persian things I like are Persian rugs.”

The following year she was reported engaged to Don Juan Carlos of Bourbon, son of the pretender to the Spanish throne.

It looked like a perfect love match. While the Shah was old enough to be Gabriella's father, the dashing Don Juan was her own age. They had known each other since childhood and, in fact, had played together as children.

Both their families were living in exile in Spain. But the prince was a favorite of Spanish dictator Franco. There were reports that Franco not only would name Don Juan as his successor but also would restore the monarchy and make the young prince King of Spain.

A marriage between Gabriella and Don Juan would unite the royal families of Italy and Spain, the ancient Houses of Savoy and Bourbon.

But Gabriella preferred champagne to bourbon.

While the monarchists of Italy and Spain were hopefully awaiting a royal wedding, the princess' romantic interest switched to Robert Gancia, heir to a bubbly wine fortune.

About this time, a weary society writer reported: “Maria Gabriella holds some kind of royal record for the number of times she has been reported engaged or having a romance with some handsome bachelor.”

Her next bachelor beau was actor-comedian Walter Chiari, a swinging

If you're an average man, with some high school education, the door is wide open to get into a fast-growing professional field. No previous experience is necessary. You can operate privately part-time, then switch to full-time later and you can often earn while you learn.

Gain Prestige and Security

What has caused this tremendous opportunity? The ever-increasing number of claims being filed by people because of accidents, fires, storms. Insurance companies, transportation firms and governmental agencies must hire trained people to investigate the damage and pay out the millions of dollars to settle these claims. The law requires it. And the demand for good trained accident investigators far exceeds the supply!

We Train You Privately by Mail

The Liberty School of Claim Investigating has quickly trained hundreds of men, who used to work at boring, humdrum jobs in factories and offices to become professional accident investigators. Only 15 minutes reading a day puts you on the road to success. You can progress as fast or as slow as you wish.

Since there are only 24 lessons, some men have received their diplomas in five or six weeks. Others prefer a more leisurely training program. (And the cost is less than you'd imagine, with payments as little as $10 a month.)

Earnings Like These in Our Files!

Anthony Allen of Baltimore writes that he is now making $1080 a month. John Parzynski, a former plant guard, writes he has made $38 a day, working only part time. Bill Peck averaged $188 a day investigating hurricane claims. Oscar Silcox earns as much as $100 a day working as an independent investigator.

Roman Romeo almost 20 years older than Gabi. When he and the princess first began making the rounds of the Via Veneto night spots, Italian socialites called their togetherness a publicity stunt by Chiari.

But waltzing Walt insisted his intentions were honest, honorable and sincere.

"I love Princess Maria Gabriella," he declared.

A spokesman for the House of Savoy replied haughtily: "Signor Chiari may speak for himself, but not for the princess."

Proving that actions speak louder than words, Chiari and Gabi appeared together in Milan, Cannes, Paris and other Jet Set playgrounds. Her royal parents did not consider the actor a proper candidate for their son-in-law, but Gabrielle went her own romantic way as usual.

Then, as usual, the affair ended as abruptly as it began.

Meanwhile, Gabi's kid sister, Beatrice, was reported engaged to a commoner, Gianni Tosetti, a political science student at Milan's Catholic University.

And their brother, Prince Victor Emmanuel, was reported unengaged from beautiful Marina Doria, daughter of a Swiss industrialist.

When their whirlwind romance began, bosomy blonde Marina was the world's water skiing champion. She lost her crown—and almost lost her life—one night when the prince was driving her home from a party.

He lost control of his sports car on a curve between Geneva and Lausanne. Swerving off the road, it smashed into a tree. The prince suffered cuts, head injuries and a broken left knee. Marina sustained a brain concussion—and fractures of both feet.

For a time it was feared she would never ski again. The prince was her constant companion during the long struggle back to health. Everyone thought they would marry.

But when Marina finally was able to walk again, Prince Vic walked out of her life. His royal daddy reportedly felt marriage to Marina would hurt Victor's chances for succession to the throne.

As usual, the princesses were having their own troubles. They still are.

And they always will as long as they keep speeding recklessly along the royal road to romance. • • •

S. F. Sex Dens

patrolled the hallways; however, no attempts were made to divert any sexual activities.

In a residential district, I found a small den with about 20 rooms. It had formerly been an old mansion, converted to flats with the steam room located on the main floor. Here the management catered to both men and women. While visiting here, we had a woman guest arrive and were herded into an adjoining room while she was whisked away to a private steam bath.

Homosexual activities here were present but on a smaller scale; however, I was informed that activity would pick up at a later hour.

Several guests questioned regarding police visits responded that these are the safest places in the city. One such informer stated that "this way they know where we are; so they don't have to worry about us cruising the streets."

The Financial District's hangout is noted for its lunch hour business. I'm told that men skip lunch just to "relax" here for an hour.

The gay bars, frequently checked by police have forced many of the gay set to cater the steam baths. Prices which once varied from $1 to $3 have now doubled. The baths themselves have expanded continuously making additional rooms and locker spaces.

Whether the police know what really happens inside these so-called steam baths is anybody's guess. Some feel that it is one way of keeping the deviate off the street and away from the younger generation, while others say as long as he stays with his own social and economic group, why bother . . . still the facts remain, they are there. The question is how long will they stay? • • • until he goes berserk," says a researcher in the field of criminal psychology.

This was true in the cases of Charles Whitman and Robert Smith, both considered model young men by their friends, teachers and neighbors. And it was certainly true of Howard Unruh, a skinny, Bible-reading veteran of World War II who went berserk one September day 18 years ago in Camden, N.J. Strolling along the streets near his home with a Luger pistol in his hand, he killed 13 innocent persons—neighbors and strangers, adults and children.

Many of these psychotic killers "feel that there is a demon within themselves," says Los Angeles Psychiatrist Martin Grotjahn. "They try to kill the demon by model behavior."

Many psychiatrists believe the percentage of potential mass killers in the U.S. is as high as one person in every 1,000. In other words, as many as 200,000 Americans, most of them leading normal lives, are capable of becoming instant murderers.

"Potential killers are everywhere these days," says Houston Psychiatrist C.A. Dwyer. "They are driving cars, going to church with you, working with you. And you never know it until they snap."

One of Robert Smith's student counselors recalled noticing "the withdrawal in this boy, the lack of emotion" but he never thought of the well-behaved kid as a potential killer.

And Charles Whitman told a Texas University psychiatrist of his secret urge to "climb to the tower and shoot people." But the psychiatrist thought he was only talking.

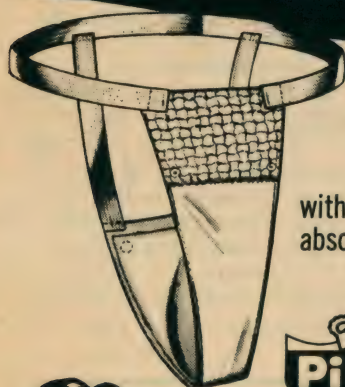

"Thousands of people—and I mean literally thousands—talk to doctors about having such feelings," says Chicago University Psychiatrist Robert S. Daniels. "Nearly all of them are just talking."

Even the best psychiatrists can't separate the talkers from those who really mean what they say. And even the best mental hospitals turn psychotic patients loose every day in the belief, or the hope, that they will not harm anyone.

Some doctors believe that the violence inside many normal-acting people is triggered by outside violence observed on the streets, on TV, in the movies, on stage or even in newspaper headlines. Others think it is a basic flaw in the nature of many humans.

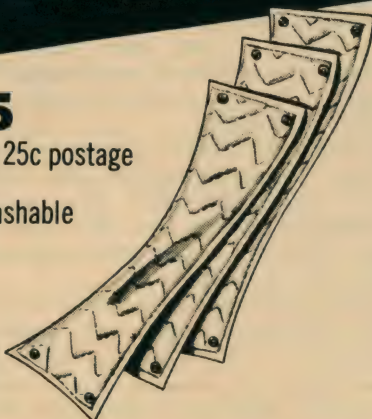

Dr. Sigmund Freud, the father of modern psychiatry, once observed: "The very emphasis of the commandment 'Thou shalt not kill' makes it certain that we are descended from an endlessly long chain of generations of murderers, whose love of murder was in their blood, as it is perhaps also in ours."

These almost-nude girls in a British film may dance for you on TV in the near future.

Nude Movies

And, by the time its theater runs are over and the movies are ready for television, the audiences are expected to be ready for all that, if not more.

The door may also swing open for such epics as "La Dolce Vita," the Fellini exposé on celluloid of the so-called sweet life among the swingers of Rome's fading nobility and low society.

Television executives were interested in the prospects of acquiring it the first time they heard about it, but were frightened off by advertisements that stressed the orgy scenes of stripping in the salon, bareback riding of girls across the living room floor and other mad moments.

A television executive told the influential TV Guide once that if it hadn't been for those ads, the film would already be playing in your living room.

"Filmmakers have got to accept the burden of how they merchandise their movies," he said. "They have to live with the image they create."

To which statement, a filmmaker answered:

"The Television people can thank their lucky stars that Hollywood and the European producers went ahead with daring ideas over the last 10 years. Otherwise, once the public attitudes had changed, TV wouldn't have anything to buy for those late, late, late shows . . . except June Allyson and Peter Lawford."

Crazy Grants

more! Lots more interesting and beneficial projects you're paying for with your hard-earned tax money.

How about $8,789 for the study of comic books? And then there's $5,000 to study British and French fur trade between 1770 and 1820. Also $12,650 for research on the contribution of "popular" literature to the creation and maintenance of important American myths and traditions.

(Like, the traditional American's willingness to empty his pockets for any hair-brained project is rapidly becoming a myth.)

Here's another good one. You've heard of William of Ockham, haven't you? Old Willie? Very famous egghead philosopher and theologian who lived in the 14th century?

You say you never heard of him and couldn't care less? Okay, but you don't mind, do you, that we just gave somebody $16,000 for a study on Willie's political thoughts, do you?

After all, what's 16G's more or less? Spread it out among all the taxpayers in this country and how much is it per man, anyway? Your share probably wouldn't even pay for the typewriter ribbon.

Of course, you start adding up all these juicy little grants and the total becomes something you can sink your teeth into. Or rather, something they can sink your teeth into, having extracted them, too.

And, speaking of extractions and teeth and such, you'll be glad to learn about a $17,205 grant for excavation work in Winchester, England. How's that for a dental bill?

What they'll find when they excavate is anybody's guess, and why England doesn't do it's own excavation work is another anybody's guess. Except that maybe the English don't make as much money as we lucky Americans do so their government can't hit them up for the tax money to pay for digging up old places. Besides, why should they pay for it when you pay for it?

You have also paid out:

$21,500 for a list of French prose and fiction from 1700 to 1750.

$10,000 to study medieval canon law.

$15,000 for preparation of a dictionary of popular beliefs and superstitions, in the field of folklore, magic and witchcraft.

This one is worth every penny—if they'll come up with a magic way for the taxpayer to pay for loony government projects like this.

Then there's another $10,000 to microfilm manuscripts written in European monasteries before 1600.

$30,000 to catalogue manuscripts from Russia, Hungary and Poland.

$13,800 to index Victorian periodicals from 1824 to 1900.

$10,000 to catalogue the works of Rembrandt and Peale.

Have you been adding it up? We'll save you the trouble. The government recently paid out nearly one million dollars in your tax money in grants like these.

We've just plucked out a handful.

Try a couple more.

Thanks for your share of the $6,952 paid out to edit the unpublished memoirs of the Spaniard Oveido, who lived in the 15th Century. It seems that Volume 1 of his memoirs was published in 1880, but nothing since. Now we ask you, is that fair to ol' Oveido? So now, thanks to you and all us other American taxpayers, Oveido can lie peacefully wherever he may be, knowing that Volume II will get out there. (Out where? Who buys this stuff? Who reads it?)

Here's another good one. A $15,500 grant for "The Interpretation of Tintoretto's Paintings in the Upper Hall of the Scuola di San Rocco in Venice."

Let's hope he didn't paint the lower hall, too. We can't afford it.

At any rate, you get the picture. It's of you and me, framed, with the word "Sucker" printed underneath.

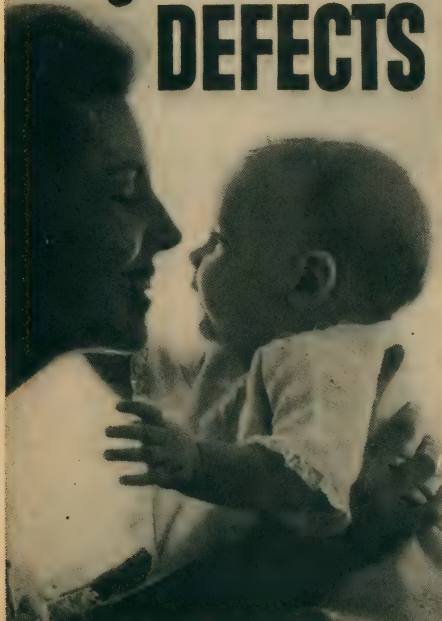

But let's put it this way. Someday, when you meet a Guajiro Indian on the street of your home town, you can say to him, with pride and honesty, "Mac, did you know I paid my share of that five thousand bucks spent to study the world views and life ways of your tribe?"

Now in what other country could an average Joe like you and me say that?

Or pay for it.

Quickly Get Rid of UNWANTED HAIR Safely

WITHOUT SHAVING OR HARSH CHEMICALS

Guaranteed to remove hair from arms, underarms, legs,
Chin, Lips in Seconds—
OR NO COST

It's safe! Just apply DAW-SONATA according to simple directions and unwanted hair is out. There's no regrowth from 5 to 7 weeks, and constant use in many areas discourages regrowth. Where regrowth does occur, it is soft and stubble-free. No special techniques required. The only feminine way to remove unsightly hair quickly . . . safely! It's odorless—no objectionable chemical smell.

A Special Proven Formula

DAW-SONATA is a special formula containing pure honey and is non-allergic. DAW-SONATA is gentle. Won't harm or injure the most sensitive skin. Hair is removed below skin line and thus should not be confused with depilatories . . . it's an epilator. It is pleasant to use but more surprising is the hairless miracle you see before your eyes in minutes. In a jiffy, the unsightly, unwanted hair is gone . . . AND . . . your skin is clean and hair-free. Positively safe and harmless. Try DAW-SONATA at our risk. Order a liberal 4 oz. jar for only $2.00. (Please add 25c for Postage and Handling Charges.) If not 100% delighted return within 15 days for full refund.

Whips! Chains! Torture!

women's magazines, "Glamour." Some members of the advertising department who had not read the book, processed the ad, until it came to one executive who had.

He ordered it out of "Glamour's" pristine pages—but the store went on to sell hundreds of the dresses through some of the best possible advertising: word of mouth.

On the heels of this, came another curious advertisement for the Sadie-Masie-In at Tompkins Square Park, where the hippies from New York's Lower East Side congregate.

It was actually held, too—just as the hippies have held their love-ins, be-ins, smoke-ins (for pot), and kiss-ins—on a Sunday afternoon.

About 35 sadie-masie cultists attended, some wearing chains, others wearing band-aids, depending on whether they wanted to punish or be punished. Most bizarre was the black-jacketed motorcyclist wearing a huge iron chain around his neck, tying him to the handlebars, and held fast by a padlock that rested on his chest.

The hulking bruiser, who looked like he should represent the best in beasts, rode off with a trim, slender blonde girl about half his size wearing band-aids on the backs of each hand (where she said she had been burned with cigaret stubs), and black and blue marks on her bare arms and shoulders.

What the sickniks did after they met their mates in masochism would be hard to imagine—were it not for the popularity of that very same "Story of O."

It's theme is rich with detail about how a young Parisian man turns his beautiful mistress over to his sadistic friends in a sex orgy club—so that they can degrade her in his presence with every possible form of sexual deviation, physical and psychological, until she is destroyed.

While the public might be shocked by the details of perverted pleasures, the book serves the Smart Set swingers as a kind of travel guide through eroticism.

Some visitors to such summer resort communities as Fire Island, Newport, Southampton and Cape Cod this year reported that it had become a gag to leave a copy of the book on the bedstand in every guest bedroom.

"What the hell," one host explained, "if your date turns out to be a drag, there are unlimited possibilities in the book for livening things up. Most people never get through the second chapter."

It should come as no surprise when such fictional and fashion fantasies of the day turn up in a sordid, real-life exercise in horror like the one provided by New Jersey's "Torture Mansion."

Last June, a 10-man, two-woman jury in Newark needed little more than two hours' deliberation to convict busty blonde Monique Von Cleef and her actor boyfriend James Albert Beard of running the 20-room mansion as a house of flagellation.

Police found enough torture equipment in the house to crowd any unhealthy nightmare of abuse—all of it well used on the blonde's sick male customers. This foreign-born woman told WHISPER that this form of Masochism is common in America but not in Europe.

There were shackles, whips, chains, pincers, nail-studded belts and rubber and leather pants and shirts. There also was a stack of letters from American men, many of them in prominent civic and social positions throughout the country, asking for appointments to be punished with these devices.

Some said they wanted to be disciplined, beaten and spanked while others sought to grovel at the big Blonde's boot-clad feet while she gave them "instructions in discipline" or treated them like "dogs," "vermin" or "garbage."

The operation was cracked by a Jersey City detective, posing as a businessman, who agreed to pay the voluptuous salesgirl of sadism $50 for a 90-minute whipping.

Monique protested that there was nothing wrong with a little sadism, if that's what a man wanted. Just ask her customers, she urged. Although most were trembling in their black and blue skins about being asked anything that would link them to this operation.

The jury obviously disagreed with her interpretation of this new version of fun and games for a sick society. • • •

Sterilization

fill the world with too many people for the amount of food and water science says we can supply, this belief is being pushed aside by many medical and political leaders.

India is actually going ahead with plans to write a law that will make sterilization MANDATORY for every man who has fathered three or more children.

It would be part of what the Indian Government calls its "family planning program," although it is obviously a family stoppage program in an ancient, worn-out country where millions go hungry even now while the population rises every day.

To get its peasant class of little education and understanding of the plan to participate, the Family Planning Minister, Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar, has asked the Government to approve a plan that would offer each man a "prize" if he submitted to the operation.

The prize would be a transistor radio—in exchange for the man's life-long power to make any woman pregnant.

"Some question has been raised about whether we can convince a man that he will have just as much fun listening to his radio as he would playing with the children he can no longer have," a government official conceded.

"There is also the problem of explaining the operation to the man who lives in those areas where disease, floods and famine are rampant. It is not uncommon for a family to be wiped out, with sometimes only the husband surviving the disaster.

"He simply finds another woman and raises another family. If he had been sterilized, of course, there could be no other family. There is no way to go back and restore the power after it is removed."

What India envisions, this minister revealed, is a sterilization corps of doctors who would form airborne teams for helicopter sweeps through the far-flung villages and towns of the great Indian subcontinent.

There would be eight or nine doctors in each team, all ready to start slicing, while an advance party of sterilization recruiters would have lined up all the village volunteers.

The operation takes only a few minutes and the flying teams of sterilizers could perform hundreds of them during a day.

The operation itself is called bilateral vasectomy and has been around ever since doctors discovered what part of the anatomy was causing babies. And India is not the only place where it is being considered.

Canadians with a large Roman Catholic body among them, were shocked recently when the urologists attending a meeting of the Ontario Medical Association in Toronto endorsed voluntary sterilization of males.

The urologists brought the issue before the convention because they said large numbers of males were coming to them every day asking that the operation be performed so they would no longer have to worry about getting women pregnant.

"Many men with highly religious wives cannot get them to practice birth control and find themselves confronted with another mouth to feed every year," a Windsor physician explained.

"Under the circumstances, it is simpler for them to get sterilized. The operation only costs between $50 and $100 which is a lot cheaper than paying for the delivery of still another baby.

"It can be performed in the doctor's office and the man doesn't even have to tell his wife that he's having it done, since there is only a 24-hour recuperation period. He's only out of action for one day, so to speak.

"Also, contrary to popular belief, it makes no difference as far as the male sex urge is concerned. In fact, most men who have been sterilized get the urge a lot more often than those who can still make babies.

"They're no longer subconsciously worried about getting their wives or girl friends in trouble. If the woman knows about it, she can be a lot more free, too. She doesn't have to wonder whether she forgot to take The Pill or go through the mechanical process of putting in the diaphragm, both of which take a lot of the romance out of lovemaking."

Another reason the urologists brought the question before the medical convention is their concern about malpractice insurance.

Practically every doctor has that kind of liability insurance against lawsuits from his patients. But the Canadian Medical Protection Association refuses to insure them against malpractice suits if they practice the sterilization surgery.

While there is no danger of the urologist leaving any of his instruments in the small area where he operates for sterilization, there is always the danger that the man who submits to sterilization will have second thoughts when it is too late forever.

"It is rare," a leading Montreal surgeon said at the meeting, "but it is always possible. But the doctors feel that as long as the patient signs a legal release, freeing the doctor of responsibility, then he should be able to qualify for the malpractice protection."

Dr. Iain Todd of Toronto, chairman of the urologists' section of the Ontario Medical Association, said many doctors took the malpractice coverage for their other operations and simply kept the sterilization work top secret.

They have been doing it for years, he said, but always running the risk of having their insurance policies cancelled if trouble develops.

That threat of difficulty will be increasing, he said, as more and more men become aware of the simplicity of the operation and come under more and more pressure to go help their wives enjoy free and relaxed sex lives by shutting off the birth problem right at the source.

There is, however, heated opposition to the operation from some sources.

Various religious groups oppose it on the ground that a surgeon should not be permitted to take away the God-given magic of creating human life.

Others warn that the increasing divorce rate—estimated in the United States to strike one in three marriages within the first seven years—should make a man stop and think before he plunges ahead with this brief moment under the knife.

"What if his marriage breaks up and he finds a young woman who wants at least one child?" asks a prominent New York divorce lawyer who handles hundreds of the cases each year.

"There are legal complications as well as medical problems if his new wife doesn't know that he has been sterilized and cannot give her the baby she wants. The psychological dangers are built into the situation, too.

"The woman, not knowing that it is her husband's problem physically, may torture herself to the point of a breakdown because she simply cannot have a child no matter what she does or they do in the marriage bed.

"I'm against sterilization—until a man has a family and a family he is sure of being with for the rest of his life."

Sonny & Cher

There was a time at an Italian restaurant when Sonny almost came to blows with a "tourist" at the next table who had called him a nasty name.

The maitre d' tactfully offered to move Sonny and Cher to another table, but Sonny suggested that the stranger's table be changed instead. He modestly reminded the manager that he'd spent over $3,000 in his joint and "all we're trying to do is eat in peace."

The maitre d' threw out the guy at the other table, but then the manager came back to Sonny and Cher's table and mentioned something about how there always seemed to be trouble in the place whenever they came in. Sonny said it wasn't his fault if people were nosey and rude.

"But you dress funny," said the manager.

"I know that," replied Sonny. "But do you want my business?"

"Sure, but couldn't you wear something else—a suit or a tie maybe?"

"This is what we wear—would you rather we didn't come in here?" asked Sonny.

"Well, since you put it that way, I guess I'd rather you didn't," answered the manager.

Not only did the manager lose a customer, the incident was the inspiration for "Laugh At Me," which sold more than 700,000 copies, once again making rejection the hottest commodity on the hippy market.

"My clothes are neat, clean, and well-tailored," says Sonny. "I spend between three and four hundred dollars on my outfits, but a restaurant throws me out for not wearing a 50-cent tie. I'm not going to conform to this and I couldn't care less about the repercussions."

And why should he?

Rejection has an instant appeal to teenagers who seem to want nothing better than to be misunderstood. They thrive on it. Half the United States' population is under 21 today—and that's a lot of rejection. Two million dollars worth of it went to Sonny and Cher last year alone.

When the London Hilton and New York's Americana hotels refused to let them register you could hear their fans howl around the world.

In Denver, their arrival drew larger crowds than President Johnson or Herman's Hermits—which is surprising because Herman's Hermits are very important.

If Elvis Presley remains the top rock-single on the charts, and the Beatles are unbeatable as far as groups go, then Sonny and Cher have carved out their own special niche—the "married couple bag," which usually keeps five of their songs on the Top 100 at any given time.

"They are the Ma and Pa Kettle of the turned-on generation," one promoter said, "and much of their popularity has to do with the fact that they're the only married ones in it."

But their success comes about because they don't look married. The Bono's (their married name) look like they're just shacked up, sharing a sanctified affair with their fans, who can see that they are obviously very much in love with each other. "The teen-ager can both fantasize and identify with them because they are happily married, like teen-agers want to be, and their appearance is odd enough to appeal to teens who want to be nonconformists within the group."

Taking a look at the role he plays to appeal to teenagers, Sonny says:

"Young people are tired of being conned. The kids like us because we're sincere."

"Our marriage is different," explains Cher. "We're really best friends. Kids like that, and I think it's a nice thing that kids have each other. Sonny and I are really girl friend and boy friend, and it's good for kids to see. Doris Day and Rock Hudson sleep in separate beds—I mean, that's not the way it really is."

Their first film, "Good Times" is about how much this rock 'n' roll royalty doesn't want to make a movie. Described (by Sonny) as a teen-age "Eight-and-a-Half," it supposedly was improvised on a day-to-day basis "because the scripts we received were so ridiculous" (also Sonny's description).

This is their first dramatic work, although they did a brief stint on "The Man From U.N.C.L.E.," and already in the works is a second film called "Ignatz."

"Nobody lasts forever in the pop music market," admits Sonny. "If we're going to continue to connect with kids, we've got to expand into movies."

Besides affluence, their over-night fame has also brought on an acute awareness of their responsibility to their teen-aged fans.

They write a column of advice for a teenage fan magazine. It's corny-sounding, but Sonny defends it:

"I don't consider it corny. We get thousands of letters a week from kids with problems—They're in tears—These little people are in tears. I'm not of a nature that can ignore them."

These "little people" are the same ones who pour $500,000 a year into the pockets of this barefoot couple with checks.

But Cher is quick to defend the way they spend the half-million a year they reportedly earn:

"Why shouldn't entertainers live high if they want to? If people work hard for money, they should be allowed to do anything they want to with it because they earned it."

But some critics of the hippy scene say that about all they have in common anymore with the real hippies, the "little people," is that they did drop out—of high school where both admit to not being very happy, if not hippy. They have gone as far as expressing sympathy for teen-agers who were protesting curfew laws and police brutality on Sunset Strip last year (as a result of this Monterey representatives immediately rescinded an invitation for the couple to ride on the city's Rose Bowl parade float), and Cher claims to correspond with a whole platoon of soldiers in Vietnam.

"I ask them what's happening there, and they say they don't know," she reports. "It's weird because they don't know why they're being killed. If you're asked to give your life for something, you should know what you're doing and if it's really necessary. Isn't that very sad?"

In a lighter vein, Cher talks about their domestic life together:

"People with a lot of money don't have fun, because everything becomes a necessity instead of a luxury. I don't even want to buy anything anymore. I want to go home."

"Not long ago I wanted to buy everything and couldn't afford to buy anything. But I'm tired of this already. It takes Sonny away too much. All he talks about now is the movie."

"I wouldn't even care about the money. We were happy before, without the money, but now we've been accepted, and I'm depressed. The only thing I care about anymore is if Sonny and I are happy together. Recording is fun, but this movie is a real hassle, and I wish we could get it over with."

But if Cher is, in her own word, "distraught" over their present fame and fortune, Sonny is nothing but enthusiastic about their blossoming movie careers.

As the driving force behind it, he often sounds more like a business man than a rock 'n' roll singer and composer—and he attributes this new-found drive and ambition, ironically enough, to Cher and their love for one another.

He insists that there's plenty of time for children, right now the career is the thing. But then Sonny already has a 9-year-old child by a first wife whom he divorced in 1963. Actually, the facts of the matter are that Sonny and the first Mrs. Bono were separated in 1962, and an interlocutory decree was filed on October 23, 1963.

In 1966 a movie fan magazine reported there are no records that a final decree was ever entered, which, if true would seem to indicate that when his marriage to Cher (nee Cherilyn LaPiere) allegedly took place on September 7, 1963, he may still have been legally married to Mrs. Donna Lynn Bono, his wife since November of 1954 and mother of his daughter born in 1958.

Questioned about this, Sonny becomes understandably surly and says only that a mistake was made in the date of his marriage to Cher, which he claims took place in Tijuana, Mexico on October 27, 1964—not in '63.

As for "turning-on," like real hippies do, Sonny and Cher's attitudes are downright non-hippy. They disapprove of LSD, legalized abortion, and Be-in demonstrations.

"Drugs are a crutch that we don't need, and Be-ins, Love-ins, whatever you call them, just give people an excuse for doing nothing," says Sonny. "What do they achieve by that sort of thing?"

"For our times, we're really normal," states Cher.

All of which may come as a shock to their hippy fans—but that's show biz.

Divorce Costs

In another typical instance a mid-western couple, Arthur and Helaine J. came to the parting of the ways and shopped around for an inexpensive divorce. Although tentatively deciding upon a Mexican divorce Arthur had some doubts about the legality and consulted a business associate who had obtained one some months before.

"Perfectly legal," he was assured, "providing you observe some precautions. Don't fall for any of these mail order deals you find advertised in the personal column. Put your wife in the hands of an American lawyer. He'll have a legitimate Mexican connection who will act as your wife's attorney and get one to represent you for you must consent to place yourself under the jurisdiction of the Mexican court."

Arthur followed out these instructions, Helaine obtained a Mexican divorce from him on grounds of extreme cruelty. This cost Arthur exactly $543.26.

If you wonder about the odd figure, it included the slice taken by the American attorney for the "referral," the charges at the Mexican end for legal services, the affidavits attesting that the decree had actually been obtained in a Mexican court of law, a copy of the decree and, undoubtedly, the ornate gold seal and blue ribbon which were attached.

For one more typical example take the case of Dr. Benjamin and Lisa K. of Richmond, Va. There are thousands of couples like them who, when contemplating a divorce, refuse to consider obtaining one in their own state for any of a number of reasons.

Dr. Benjamin believed it would be injurious to his professional practice if Lisa divorced him in Virginia where the grounds are adultery, sodomy, penal sentence, conviction of infamous crime, felony, fugitive from justice, desertion or prostitution.

The obvious solution was a Nevada divorce where, after a six weeks' sojourn, his wife could obtain a decree on the less onerous grounds of "cruelty."

Lisa boarded a plane for Reno where she took up residence in one of the many hostels that make a profitable business of catering to intended divorcees. It wasn't one of those swank guest ranches such as the one that Mrs. Mary Todhunter Clark Rockefeller checked into as a preliminary to ending her 32-year marriage to the Governor of New York State. It was a motel where, for the "moderate" charge of $115 per week the manager made the usual promise that he would appear in court when her case came up and testify that she had been living on the premises for six weeks—which made her a "Nevadan."

The lawyer who had been consulted by Lisa in Richmond had referred her to one in Reno. The later charged $800, out of which he sent the Richmond lawyer $100 for referral. Another $50 went to a young Reno lawyer acting in behalf of the defendant who had placed himself under Nevada jurisdiction.

The divorce proceedings, for "mental cruelty" lasted nine minutes and 30 seconds. The motel manager was Lisa's only required witness. She, herself, was asked to give an example of the cruel and inhumane treatment inflicted by her spouse.

"In a fit of temper he picked up a ceramic ash tray and threw it on the floor," she said, and bravely suppressed a sob. "It broke into a great many pieces."

The decree was granted and the judge went on to the next case on his assembly-line schedule.

In addition to the $800 for legal fees, Dr. Benjamin paid $1300 for Lisa's motel bill, transportation and other incidental expenses. The total cost of the divorce came to $2,100.

Expensive as a "friendly" or collusive divorce may turn out to be, it costs much more when a husband or wife decides to contest in the courts or files a counter accusation. Legal fees multiply. Many lawyers acknowledge that they charge all that the traffic can bear. In the majority of instances when a judge decides in favor of a wife he awards her not only a settlement and/or support for herself and children, if any, but generous counsel fees for her attorney as well.

Contested divorces often drag on through the courts for years. A poor man cannot stand the expense of legal fees especially if he must pay for his wife's lawyer as well as his own. Many a man with a moderate income ends up behind the financial eight ball. And for the rich the legal costs may be astronomical.

Consider, for example, the complicated case of the embattled Rosenstiels whose matrimonial fight in divorce courts is estimated at more than a million.

Back in 1956, when he was 65 years old, Lewis Rosenstiel, wealthy founder and board chairman of the well-known liquor company, Schenley Industries, Amazing Space-Age Invention Converts TV, Movies To "Living 3-D" INSTANTLY!

- Living Action Pops Right Out of Screen!
- Sharper, Clearer Images Than You Ever Dreamed Possible!
- Ends Glare-Headache-Fatigue!

IT'S TRUE! After years of exhaustive research and testing Optical Scientists have succeeded in developing S/T (Space/Time) 3-D Filter Glasses that instantly add FULL 3-DIMENSION EFFECT to black and white and color TV and Movies. You too will be amazed and delighted as each on-screen action seems to pop right out at you clearer and sharper than you ever dreamed possible! For the first time you get the full visual impact of each scene, front to back, as well as side to side, just as though you were actually there!

TESTED AND RETESTED OVER 300,000 TIMES

The amazing scientific principle embodied in S/T 3-D Glasses has been tested and proven in the laboratory, and in actual use, countless thousands of times! Due to limitations of cost and production, before today it has unfortunately been available only to a limited lucky few. Now a real breakthrough in scientific engineering plus the final development of vital color filters makes it possible to begin to supply it to all. Now at last you can add exciting LIVING 3-DIMENSION EFFECT to your Black and White and color TV and Movie Viewing; get sharper, clearer fully-rounded images; get disturbing glare eliminated immediately and for good! Be the first to amaze and delight your family, friends and neighbor! Order today!

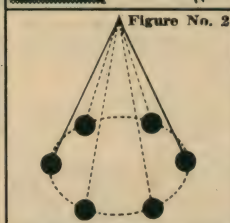

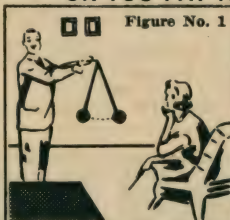

HOW AMAZING SPACE/TIME PRINCIPLE CHANGES ORDINARY TV, MOVIES TO 3-D INSTANTLY!

Daytime vision results basically from the effect of light stimuli on extremely sensitive receivers in our eyes known as "cones." Night vision by different receivers in our eyes known as "rods." With one eye more sensitized for rods and the other more sensitized for cones, as is effected through the use of S/T 3-D Filters, an apparent difference in the speed of response from each eye to the brain is created, thereby enabling one eye to "see" ahead of the other. The apparent combination of the 2 slightly dissimilar images into one results in the 3-Dimensional effect seen most dramatically when vital action moves across the screen, such as sports, Westerns, Racing, moving titles, etc.

Inc., married his fourth wife, shapely Mrs. Susan Kaufmann.

Susan was a blooming 33. She had been married once before, to a man named Felix Kaufmann. The marriage had ended in a Mexican divorce in 1954.

The Rosenstiel marriage lasted for five years after which Lewis decided that he wanted out from the connubial nest. He consulted lawyer Benjamin Javits, older brother of Senator Jacob Javits of New York.

As adultery then was the only grounds for divorce in New York State he sought an annulment. He claimed that Susan's prior divorce from Felix was not valid.

Apparently there is an odd quirk in Mexican divorce law to the effect that a creditor may have a debtor's divorce cancelled if he can show that he had not been notified of the divorce in advance.

In this instance the alleged creditor who made the complaint—"alleged" because he never did materialize in the flesh—was a ghostly "Samuel Goldsmith."

A Mexican judge who didn't believe in spooks took the protest of "Samuel Goldsmith" for real and cancelled Susan's divorce to Felix. According to Mexican law they were still married.

The New York State Supreme Court thereupon granted Rosenstiel his annulment. But wait a minute—

Following this decision the Appellate Division over-ruled the lower court and its decision was sustained by the Court of Appeals.

This now meant that Susan was not married to Felix but to Rosenstiel.

As may be surmised, during the series of court hearings the lawyers' fees were adding up like a berserk computer.

In March, 1963, Rosenstiel fired Javits and got himself another lawyer, Roy Cohn, best known as former chief counsel of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's communist-hunting Senate committee. Inasmuch as Cohn's take-home fees average $250,000 annually, his services, like Javits', are not usually available for walking around money.

Now Rosenstiel sued his former lawyer, Javits, for an accounting of $445,000 he claimed to have paid in fees and expenses in connection with obtaining his on-again-off-again annulment from Susan. He declared that Javits had kept him in the dark as to what had gone on at the Mexican end of their busy party line.

Javits countered by filing papers in the New York State Supreme Court in which he asserted that both his erstwhile client and Cohn had been kept informed of his moves. He said: "I communicated with Mr. Cohn in person, by telephone and in writing on at least 11 or 12 occasions."

Cohn promptly denied this. He said that right after becoming Rosenstiel's lawyer: "I dropped the nullification proceedings in Mexico because they were absurd—an exercise in futility. It's totally untrue that Javits kept me informed."

Now let's get back to the main bout, to a day last December when Justice Nathaniel T. Helman of the New York Supreme Court awarded sizable support payment to Susan. He also declared, though not in these precise words, that the actions of Rosenstiel representatives in Mexico, whoever they might have been were about as kosher as a Chihuahua tamale. He said: "Through a maze of forged documents, a fraud was uncovered, which involved the activities in Mexican proceedings of a fictitious Samuel Goldsmith."

So what, you may well ask, is the current marital and martial status of the Rosenstiels?

Six years and many hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of legal fees after their matrimonial tizmmas, not to mention Sturm und drang, began in court, the end of their costly battle is not yet in sight. At last report from the scene of legal action Rosentiel obtained a divorce in Florida and Susan was preparing to contest it.

Many a man less wealthy than Lewis Rosenstiel, unable to pay the staggering legal costs of a contested divorce has a choice of either throwing in the towel or going broke.

"There are few other alternatives," points out Warren J. Hunsaker, a mid-western counselor of family relations. "They are not at all satisfactory, especially if there are children to be considered."

One alternative, as Hunsaker explains, is desertion. Every year thousands of husbands throughout the country who are unable to pay the high legal fees incurred in a divorce action abandon their wives and families, leaving them to shift for themselves.

"In an increasing number of instances we also find that couples, unable to pay for the cost of an uncontested divorce simply separate," adds Hunsaker.

"They go their own ways. Ultimately one or both find a more compatible mate. Though still married, they live with their new partners.

"Our society frowns on this as immoral. In every State of the Union the law considers this a crime. Yet, in tens of thousands of cases yearly the law courts contribute to this immorality and crime by making a divorce a costly, if not difficult legal procedure."

Many family relations counselors like Warren Hunsaker and Clark Blackburn, judges, sociologists, clergymen and others agree. Some point out that they have long advocated a uniform divorce law throughout the country. Says Hunsaker:

"Our state-by-state divorce laws have been in a sorry mess and no one realizes this better than the judges who hear the hundreds of thousands of cases that are brought before them every year.

"In New York, for example, a judge who grants a plaintiff a decree of divorce on an adultery complaint is well aware that the 'evidence' was probably obtained by collusion if, indeed, it was not manufactured out of whole cloth.

"In Reno or Las Vegas a judge is equally aware that the plaintiff who appears before him is not a bona fide resident of Nevada nor intends to become one but is only in the state long enough to meet the six weeks' requirements.

"Nevertheless our divorce courts continue to maintain and actually encourage this obvious fiction and our legal profession benefits by it to the extent of a billion dollars a year if not more."

Declares Family Service Association of America's general director Blackburn: "Our divorce laws begin with the premise that, if you're not happily married, you should feel guilty, and if you're guilty, you ought to pay for it.

"That's puritanical nonsense. Once divorce becomes necessary and even desirable, people shouldn't have to go through with all the rigmarole. The procedure should be something simple, like ending a contract or getting a driver's license."

Until that day arrives when hundreds of thousands of unhappily wedded couples can go their separate ways legally by obtaining a "divorce license" for about $5, a divorce will continue to be an expensive procedure.

Unless, of course, you happen to be a Navajo Indian.

According to ancient tribal law when a couple decide upon a divorce the squaw tosses her husband's saddle out of their hogan and says "Scram, you bum!" or the equivalent thereof in the Navajo language.

It's as simple, direct and inexpensive as that.

Homosexual Marriage

The fact that many young men choose to live together in homosexual relationship also is no shock.

But nobody has ever given approval in civil or church circles to the idea of a formal marriage ceremony for these male duets.

Harry Rietra and his friend Jean Knockhart got around that problem when they went to their parish priest, Father H. M. J. Stoelinga, pastor of the Antonius Abt Church, and asked him to celebrate a special Mass for them.

The priest, who knew he had an odd appeal on his hand, was also bound by Roman Catholic rules to agree to such requests when the reason is legitimate.

A binding of The Boys isn't included, but Jean and Harry said they wanted the Mass to honor the birthday of one of their mothers, as a blessing of good fortune on the new bar they were opening together and in honor of their friendship.

Father Stoelinga said he agreed because "you have to do something to reach out to these people to keep in touch."

He planned at first to celebrate the Mass in the Antonius Abt Church.

Then he began to get suspicious. First, Harry and Jean asked if the priest would mind celebrating the mass with two chairs placed on the altar.

The chairs are usually only present on the altar during wedding ceremonies, a church official explained.

Then he began to get a series of telephone calls from sweet-voiced, sometimes lisping men all over Europe.

They all wanted to know when the "special wedding mass" would take place.

Since the church not only disapproves of homosexuality but is puritanically rigid about any possible abuse of its sacraments, Father Stoelinga transferred the ceremony to the chapel of a small private school near the church and would not perform it himself.

The job went to his assistant, Father J. C. Omtzigt.

And the ceremony was held—complete with the exchange of rings—although it did not include any phrases like "Do you take this man to be your . . ."

Harry said later that the priest knew what was going on and even signaled them when it was time to pledge their fidelity and exchange rings.

Several of his friends also corroborated his claim!

Then the story began to make the rounds on the wagging tongues of the homosexual gossips, most of whom were filled with envy.

The first set of ears the news apparently reached, however, were those of

What the field of sexology has needed for a long time in an authoritative, economical book illustrating the sexual organs, and their functions, with unretouched, actual photos, not just drawings. Here it is!

Edited by Joseph Dow, M.D. Contents include: physiology of erection; variations in sizes of penes (with average size as well as the largest sizes ever recorded); circumcision (both male and female); penile amputation; deforming the penis for increased coital satisfaction; the testicles; castration; The vulva; the clitoris — types and sizes; types of hymen; the vagina and its functions; differences between vagina of the virgin and the parous woman; deformities of the vagina; absence of the vagina; double vaginae;

Types of pubic hair arrangements (both male and female); breast development; types of nipples, the areolae; various breast shapes; genital mutilation (male and female); sexual precocity. $3.00.

☐ Bride and Groom

By F. M. Rossiter, M.D. The only up-to-date sex manual published since Prof. Kinsey's volume on female sexuality and incorporating statistics from it. New, revised edition. Completely illustrated.

Subjects covered include: the male and female sex organs; honeymoon habits; aphrodisiacs; the mutual climax v. the individual orgasm; sex organ disparity (both male and female) and how to overcome it; the breasts as an erotic factor; delaying the climax;

Sexual deviations; glossary of sexual terms; preliminary coital technic, coital movements (for both husband and wife); coital positions — husband-above (1 to 22), wife-above (23 to 52), on-the-side (53 to 60), seated (61 to 69), kneeling-standing (70 to 99), reclining (100 to 108), exotic positions (109 to 120);

The after-play; masturbation in marriage; eliminating difficulties; preventing and eliminating sex shock in wives; problems caused by under-sexed and over-sexed mates; multiple orgasms for the wife; causes of sexual failures in husbands; problems posed by over-sized and under-sized genital combinations; conception and childbirth; sex facts for married couples; the wife's preliminary arousal of the husband; body hygiene; erotic sexuality — both normal and abnormal. $3.00.

Female Masturbation

A New printing of Dr. Kelly's monograph as well as articles on the subject by many other doctors.

Chapters are entitled: Female Masturbation by G. Lombard Kelly, M.D.; Auto-Erotism in The Female by Edwin Hirsch, M.D.; Artificial Erotism by J. Richardson Parke, M.D.; Childhood v. Adult Masturbation by Bernhard Bauer, M.D.; Masturbation in Girls by Albert Moll, M.D.; Curing Masturbation With Hypnosis by A. von Schrenck-Notzing, M.D.; Self-Masturbating Girls by Barbara Hoffman.

Subjects include: initial experiences, psychic effects, historical aspects, the use of artificial penes and other instruments, lesbian masturbation (including the seduction of young girls), normal and abnormal masturbation, techniques employed, married masturbators, stimuli (both sexual and non-sexual), frequency, causes and cures, evils of masturbation — real and imagined, masturbation as a sex crime deterren psychic auto-erotism, urethral masturbation, personal confessions, etc.

Fully illustrated with historical as well as contemporary drawings and photos of techniques, postures, masturbatory objects, etc. $3.00

☐ Unusual Female Sex Practices

Five aspects of unusual female sexual activities comprise this book:

Voyeurism by David O. Cauldwell, M.D. Subjects include: distinction between peeping toms and voyeurs, why girls peek, case-histories, normal and abnormal peeking, voyeurism in marriage, viewing parents during coitus, watching boys masturbate, psychological reactions, etc.;

Female Pedophilia by J. Richardson Parke, M.D. Contents include: examples of girls seducing boys, techniques used, married women initiating youths, nurses introducing charges to cunnilinctus/fellation, psychological reactions, extent of practices, sexually aggressive girls, lesbian pedophilia, 10-year-old prostitutes, nymphetism, etc.;

Incest by La Forest Potter, M.D. Subjects include: causes, effects on later life, acts initiated by females, frequency, normalcy of incest, case-histories — mother / son / father / daughter, uncle / niece, brother/sister, mother/son, results of suppressing incestuous desires, origin of the incest taboo, legalized incest, reactions of subjects, etc.;

Wife-Swapping by Wenczel Rymarkiewicz. A transcript of a tape recording between the author and a mate-swapping couple. All the questions the subject brings up — why do they do this? How do they get started? etc. — are answered. A valuable insight into the mate-swapping personality;

The Early Teenager as Seductress by Barbara Hoffman. A new report on the increasing sexual maturity of the teenage female, especially those who plan sexual assaults on boys and even men. Subjects include: first intercourse, introduction to paraphilias (oral sex), detection, pregnancy, masturbatory acts, emotional reactions, effects on adulthood, case-histories, extent of activities, etc.

New illustrated edition published by Banner Books. Price $3.00.

☐ Female Sex Perversion

By Maurice Chideckel, M.D. Finally released by the publishers for general distribution! Don't confuse with similarly-titled paperback imitations recently published. This is the original, hard-cover edition of this long-restricted classic in the field of female sex deviations and bizarre practices!

Subjects covered include: lesbian love among the ancients; lesbianism practiced openly and legally; sex cults worshipping the female genitals; female homosexuality in art and literature; the origins of sexual deviations; the oedipus complex (mother love) in women; castration complex; phallus substitutes;

Causes of lesbianism; breast eroticism; female flagellation; self-punishment (including suicide); bizarre methods of erotic stimulation and orgasms; lesbian love between white and colored girls; erotic activities of girl inmates in institutions;

Sadism and masochism in lesbians; sex crimes of female sadists; methods of masturbation practiced by lesbians; kleptomania and homosexuality; fellation and lesbianism; soixante-neuf and cunnilinctus; frigidity and nymphomania; female exhibitionists; anal eroticism; women and animals (bestiality); female fetishism, etc.

Many case-histories are included from the doctor's files. Illustrated edition. Price $4.75

☐ Sex Feeling in Men & Women

Dr. Kelly's sex manual is valuable for three reasons: (1) it covers the entire subject of sex in marriage — male and female reproductive organs; sex impulse in men v. women; masturbation in and out of marriage; pre-coital stimulation; problems of sexually frustrated wives (with case-histories); sex myths; aids to penetration; oral eroticism;

(2) It abounds in important facts generally available only in higher priced books — enlarging the penis to a maximum; the wife's assistance in overcoming semi-impotence; erotic fears of wives; eliminating problems caused by over-sized and under-sized husbands; prolonging coitus; etc.

(3) Its original drawings. These include the male and female sex organs, both internal and external and specially-drawn illustrations, available in no other manual, depicting the correct and incorrect methods of penetration (with and without penile-clitoral contact). $3.00.

the angry bishop of Rotterdam, the Rev. Martin Jansens.

He immediately sent the priest who celebrated the Mass on vacation and issued a ringing denial of church approval of homosexuality.

"This was not a wedding in the eyes of the church," Bishop Jansens said.

Then the Dutch newspapers took up the protest and denounced the whole affair as vulgar, a violation of religious decorum and an event of extremely bad taste.

So violent was the outcry that even the homosexuals of Rotterdam seemed sorry that they had attracted this much attention. The Cultural and Recreational Center of Rotterdam, an organization that represents homosexuals, said it did not approve of the ceremony.

There were rumors that the church officials were torn between a desire to punish the participants in the ceremony with some action like ex-communication and the hope that all the gossip would die down and fade away if nothing more was done than to warn priests against being duped into such "weddings."

In the United States, meanwhile, the churches have not been involved in the so-called marriage ceremonies between the gay boys who want to promise to love, honor and crush each other to their manly chests forever.

Because of public disapproval of such liaisons, a great deal more secrecy surrounds them, but "wedding" ceremonies are still a definite part of the homosexual underworld. Typical of these ceremonies are the ones that take place in New York's Greenwich Village and other gay gathering spots throughout the country—riotous rites that seem to be half bridal party, half Roman orgy and all whipped up in a shrieking masquerade ball.

One WHISPER informant who is an assistant to an interior decorator during the day and a passionate prowler on the sex circuit at night, said such ceremonies "add spice" to the homosexual relationship that is beginning to lose its excitement.

"So a couple will decide to get 'married' and have a honeymoon," this he-she acquaintance said. "The one who's the bride usually picks five or six friends as bridesmaids and they all get dressed up in the gowns they have hidden away in the closet or the bottom drawer."

"The ceremony is usually held at someone's apartment or place in the country, where complete privacy can be guaranteed and everybody invites his or her friends."

"Of course, the ceremony isn't real. Nobody would dare trying to ask a minister to perform a real marriage. But everybody knows how one of those ceremonies goes and somebody serves as the preacher."

"After the ceremony, there's a big party like a reception and the 'bride' opens her presents and everybody drinks a lot of champagne. It gets pretty wild. I've been to some wedding receptions that started on Friday night and weren't over

PROVEN IN THE LABS — PROVEN ON THE ROAD —
PROVEN ON THE INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY
— and finally released to the public!

Yes, proven at Indianapolis — proven in the same test laboratories used by Ford, General Motors and Chrysler . . . proven by the world's largest automobile fleet owners! An exciting new scientific "breakthrough" that means . . . no matter what kind of gas you use . . . no matter what kind of car you own you can now pile up 100 miles of driving a week, month after month and fill your gas-tank as little as once a month . . . pile up 100 miles of driving a day all 365 days of the year . . . and save up to 500 gallons of gas each year!

NOW! 30 DAYS OF DRIVING ON A SINGLE TANK OF GAS!

— even more startling, now save up to $16 a month, up to 50 gallons of gas each month, without changing a single part on your car!

Laboratory reports . . . PLUS road tests conducted on Indianapolis proving grounds reveal you may now get as much as 37 miles of driving from each gallon of gas . . . save up to 50 gallons of gas each month . . . save up to $200 on your car each year!

Six months ago, for perhaps the first time in history, the United States Government issued patent protection to an invention that has been classified ILLEGAL! Sound strange? Not really here's why: I'm sure you're familiar with the famous gasoline-economy tests run by all the major oil companies. Well, do you know that the remarkable new invention described on this page is actually banned from these tests because it is TOO EFFECTIVE! Do you know that because this invention saves so much gasoline . . . that because it gives so much economy, it is actually ILLEGAL for a test-driver to fit one on his car! And do you know that because it boosts gasoline mileage up to 11 more miles per gallon . . . it has actually been OUTLAWED in every recognized cross-country economy run . . . simply because the officials who conduct these tests were forced to rule that it gives all cars that have it an UNFAIR ADVANTAGE!

In other words, if you are a person planning on entering one of these cross-country economy runs . . . then this message is not for you. YOU JUST WON'T BE ALLOWED TO USE THIS NEW INVENTION—SORRY, BUT IT'S SIMPLY ILLEGAL. BUT — if you are a person who is not interested in setting any records . . . who is only interested in getting more miles per gallon than you ever dreamed possible . . . and doing it the very same way that many of America's leading corporations are doing at this very moment — then what you are about to read is perhaps the most thrilling and exciting news in automotive history.

TEST DRIVERS REPORT UP TO 11 MORE MILES PER GALLON —

The name of this great new invention is the G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER . . . and there is no better way to describe to you the increased performance and economy it will give you . . . than to tell you of the "bombshell effect" it had on research scientists and test-drivers, who simply refused to believe their own gasoline gauges when they first tried it out. Look:

CUTS GASOLINE COSTS TO AS LITTLE AS 1¢ A MILE

1. When the G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER was first tested by the same research laboratories used by Ford, General Motors and Chrysler . . . results were so overwhelming, (a staggering increase of up to 68 per cent) . . . it actually lowered gasoline costs to as little as ONE CENT A MILE.

2. When tests were made by the world's leading auto rental system with this incredible money saving invention . . . and then test-run on the road and on such world famous proving grounds as the Indianapolis Speedway . . . the test-drivers of these vehicles were absolutely amazed to see big 8 cylinder sedans get better gas-mileage than small European economy cars!

3. When large fleet owners and some of the nation's largest taxi fleets tested this great new invention to determine just how much gas it would save them . . . the results were so dramatic that within 30 days they reported savings of not hundreds . . . but thousands of gallons of gas the very first month alone!

UP TO 500 MILES OF DRIVING FROM A SINGLE TANK OF GAS

Reports of big, luxury sedans that weigh 2½ times more than small European cars . . . yet get better mileage, better performance and huge dollar savings thanks to this new miracle invention.

IF IT WORKS SUCH MILEAGE-MIRACLES, HOW COME THE CAR MANUFACTURERS HAVEN'T INSTALLED THIS TYPE UNIT IN THEIR CARS? — THE ANSWER IS THAT TWO ALREADY HAVE!

By now you are probably wondering just what is the G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER . . . and how does it work? Well, to make a long story short . . . if you were to look under the hood of one of those $20,000 European luxury cars like the Maseratti or the Aston-Martin, you would see sitting in those engines . . . a special gasoline unit . . . especially designed to extract more blazing power, more energy from each gallon of gasoline. This remarkable booster-unit is what gives these cars such magnificent performance . . . such TOTAL POWER . . . such increased engine efficiency.

And this is precisely what the G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER is designed to do — enable your engine to extract more piston-driving power, more raw, blazing energy and more gasoline economy . . .

HERE IT IS — IN ACTION — The miracle G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER, caught by the eye of ultra high-speed cameras at one of the world's most famous proving grounds. Yes, here on the big viewing console you see dramatic picture-proof of tests conducted by leading automotive authorities at the Indianapolis Speedway . . . tests that PROVE you can now actually take ordinary gasoline . . . feed it into your engine in a new and different way . . . trigger it into piston-driving energy . . . and unleash a blazing source of power for your car. For full documented proof of just how this amazing new discovery can save you up to $200 in gasoline bills in the next 12 months . . . read the rest of this page. (Tests performed by official Indianapolis test driver.)

ONLY, instead of costing $100 to $150 (like the European booster-units) . . . the G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER costs but a mere fraction.

That's because after years of intensive research automotive experts have finally found a way to simplify these booster units . . . reduce the number of parts in each unit . . . mass produce them . . . slash costs to a mere fraction . . . and make them available at a price so low it's almost too ridiculous to mention. Why do you realize what this means to you if you are a person who is determined to save yourself up to $16 a month on your gas bills . . . up to 50 gallons of gas each month . . . yes, up to $200 a year on wasted gasoline.

INSTALLS IN MINUTES — PAYS FOR ITSELF IN AS LITTLE AS 15 DAYS!

It means that no matter what kind of car you now have . . . no matter how old that car may be . . . no matter what condition it is in . . . no matter how many miles you pile on each month . . . here at last is the automotive discovery you've long dreamed about . . . and has now come true. Because, from this day on you too can now save up to 500 gallons of gas each and every year. Now you too can drive for weeks and weeks on end without ever stopping at a service station. Now you too can drive across 6 states of the union on just a single tank of gas, blaze a trail from New York to Chicago on just 2 or 3 tankfuls. In other words, perform miracle miracles that only yesterday you thought were impossible.

So if you too want to achieve the same wondrous results as America's largest automotive fleet owners, by Indianapolis test-drivers, and by research scientists at the very same testing laboratories used by Ford, Chrysler and General Motors, then take advantage of this special Free-Trial introductory offer. Remember, all you risk is the few minutes it takes to fill out the special reservation coupon below, and you have a lifetime of driving convenience and economy to gain.

THIS OFFER EXPIRES IN 15 DAYS — YOU MUST ACT NOW! Now the price of the G. T. ENERGY CHAMBER on this special introductory offer is not the 15 or 20 dollars you might expect . . . but only $5.95. Why, you'll save up to 10 times that amount in gasoline savings in no time at all . . . not to mention the hundreds of gallons of gasoline and hundreds of dollars in money you save year after year. However, due to the enormous demands of trucking companies, car-rental companies, taxicab fleets and other large users, only a limited number of G. T. ENERGY CHAMBERS can possibly be allocated each month for consumer orders. Therefore, all orders must be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. So to take advantage of this limited introductory offer . . . mail the no-risk coupon today!

until Monday morning.

"By then, the 'bride' is almost worn out and the husband has already found a new friend."

There are the "screamers," as such far-outers are called, who have established the inside joke of announcing their weddings in the newspapers.

"It's a riot to be flipping through the society section of The New York Times on Sunday morning and find a picture of your friend, Bruce, right there in the middle of all those other girls," he said.

"With a little careful retouching, nobody ever notices that Bruce needs a shave and that he really isn't 'Miss Ethel S_____', whose wedding took place . . . ' as the society writers say."

While such activities as marriage ceremonies and the practical jokes on papers pose the threat of both police action and public exposure, the homosexuals in the United States operate on still another level in attempting to achieve recognition by the public as acceptable citizens.

This is the effort by the quieter element of the cult of queendom whose members actually do live together as husband and wife but appear to be just a couple of male "roommates" to outsiders.

"A Las Vegas minister admits that at least three times a week he is called upon to perform a civil wedding ceremony where he is certain the "girl" is a man in drag. A couple of Reno officials admit the statistics for their city.

"Such marriages are not really legal though the homosexuals might treat them as such, hoping others will, too.

"If they are successful in convincing the public to accept them," he added, "then we may see the day in the United States when they will go into church to be married, just like any other husband and wife."

The Men From S.I.N.

politicians of all parties, Vatican administrators, bishops, priests, military officers, businessmen, industrialists, authors, artists, movie producers and directors.

Their surveillance methods were almost as thorough as Hitler's Gestapo. Yet few of their targets realized they were being tailed until rumors of corruption and graft in the SID began flying late last year.

As a result of these rumors, Defense Minister Roberto Tremelloni set up a confidential commission of inquiry to investigate the Sexpionage Service. The commission promptly blew the lid off a fantastic sex-and-spy scandal.

Accusing the SID of practicing "odious espionage," Tremelloni declared: "Detailed probes were ordered and carried out on people's extramarital relations, on the births of illegitimate children and on people's sexual habits."

Though much of the information collected came from anonymous sources and was of doubtful accuracy, the Defense Minister pointed out that it "could have constituted an instrument of pressure on the most influential men in the nation." In other words, the sexpionage files could have been—and probably were—used for political or financial blackmail.

SID sleuths used cameras, telephone taps and hidden microphones. Their electronic eyes and ears penetrated the love-nests of thousands of Italians who thought nobody knew they were cheating on their wives.

In many cases, the snoopers actually attached eavesdropping devices to beds in hotel and motel rooms, apartments and private villas.

But there were no "bed bugs" in the motel room the Italian official intended to share with the bug-hating American blonde. Instead, there were lens lice lurking outside. SID agents, who tailed the couple to the motel, snapped photos of their unclad departure.

One of these pictures would have been enough to ruin the official's marriage, reputation and career.

The SID was not intended to be a Sexpionage Service. It was formed, under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreement, to protect Italian security secrets from Red spies. One of the clauses in the NATO pact says: "Communists or persons who adhere to the ideology of Marxism may have no access to military or strategic information."

This rule was interpreted to include not only Communist Party members but also Socialists, Social Democrats and all other left-leaning groups.

The late Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's Communist boss, was a prime SID target. And when he left his wife to live openly with buxom Comrade Leonilde Jotti, his change of address was duly noted by the security cops. They also recorded the fact that Togliatti and his mistress adopted a daughter.

This investigation led to additional probes of the sex lives of prominent Reds, leftists and liberals.

Then, as a result of the sexpionage Wilma Montesi affair, the SID enlarged its surveillance to include everybody who was anybody in Italy.

Wilma, 21, a superbly-stacked brunette, was murdered in April, 1953. Her voluptuous body, nude from the waist down, was found on the beach at Ostia near Rome. Police concluded she had died from accidental drowning.

Months later, an Italian magazine charged the cops were covering up Wilma's bizarre fate. The magazine claimed she did not die of drowning at Ostia but from an overdose of opium she consumed at a sex-and-dope party in a swank hunting lodge at nearby Capocotto.

When she passed out, the story said, her orgy companions drove her to Ostia, dumped her on the beach and left her to drown. Very Important Playboys reportedly were involved.

Charged with spreading "false and adulterated news to perturb the public order," editor Silvano Muto produced several witnesses to back up his story. One of them was society beauty Anna Maria Caglio, whose jet hair and graceful neck prompted newsmen to call her The Black Swan.

For three years after Wilma's death, sensation was piled on sensation. An autopsy finally disclosed she was murdered by a person or persons who held her head in the surf until she drowned.

The Marchese Ugo Montagna di San Bartolomeo, a leader of Rome's Dolce Vita set, was accused of running a narcotics ring and rounding up girls for sex orgies. Ugo Piero Piccioni, swinging son of Italy's Foreign Minister, and 10 other men were charged with complicity in Wilma's death.

All were acquitted after a wild trial in which it was almost impossible to distinguish fact from fantasy. In 1956, with Wilma's murder still unsolved, the Italian Supreme Court ordered the case closed.

By this time, the SID had dossiers on everyone even remotely connected with the Montesi affair. And, despite the Supreme Court order, it kept right on investigating sin in high places.

For 10 years, starting in 1956, SID snoopers relentlessly pursued their task of catching important Italians with their pants down.

Considering that some 3 million Italian husbands have chosen to live with women who are not their wives, and that millions more spend their evenings with mistresses, girl friends or prostitutes, the self-appointed chore of the Sexpionage Service was not an easy one.

But there were frequent fringe benefits—such as the cash payoffs made to have certain reports, photos, tapes and dossiers removed from SID files.

When Defense Minister Tremelloni's confidential committee took over these files a few months ago, it was discovered that several top-secret dossiers were missing.

The last SID chief, who was fired at the start of the inquiry, claimed he had destroyed the dossiers on President Saragat, Vice President Nenni, Foreign Minister Fanfani, Defense Minister Tremelloni and many others when he left office.

But Italian tabloids have been publishing juicy, highly-spiced titbits from these "destroyed" files, leading to the conclusion that sexpionage secrets were sold to the highest bidders.

One of the confidential reports made public recently described a former head of state, now in his 70's, as "a great lover."

"I'm flattered," he said. "The SID has made me feel 50 years younger." • • •

"If Husbands Only Knew—"

If husbands only knew how much they are missing they would not wait another moment to read "Sex Life in Marriage." Many men (even those who have been married a long time) don't get half the delight because they don't know the knack of sexual intercourse!

WHO IS TO BLAME?

But this is not all. What of the wife? In all-too-many cases she is cheated out of her sex rights. The sex act becomes a one-sided affair. The husband thinks his wife is at fault. The wife thinks her husband is to blame. The marriage itself is in danger!

TELLS WHAT TO DO AND HOW

Actually both must learn exactly what to do before, during, and after sexual intercourse. In "Sex Life in Marriage," Dr. Oliver M. Butterfield gives detailed directions to both husband and wife.

Using plain words, this famous Marriage Counsellor tells what must be done, and what must not be done! The "Secrets" of sex life are clearly revealed, husband and wife fall in love anew—the home is held together! Worry and anxiety disappear.

Sex mastery replaces doubt. Married life becomes doubly delightful because the joys of marriage are shared by both!
